BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

The big question standing out in the war situation today was this:

"Is Von Hindenburg waiting for the heralded Austro-Hungarian drive to get under way before renewing his offensive against the allies on the western battle front?"

Reports from the southwestern front tinue to tell of increasing artillery activity all along the battle line from the Trentino sector to the Adriatic.

The operations on the Picardy and Flanders battle fronts in France during the past twenty-four hours, although of a minor nature, were all in favor of the allies. Between the Somme and Ancre rivers, northeast of the British base at Amiens, the British line was extended over a wide front and heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans. At the same time the British lunged forward north of the British railhead at Bethune, on the Flanders front, improving their positions in the sectors of Locon and the Lawe river.

It was just one week ago today that the British and French on the Franco-Belgian frontier inflicted a stinging defeat upon the Germans in an all-day battle and since that date the Boches have been unable to get their steam roller under way again. There have been feints and thrusts of a local nature, but no operations of magnitude.

On both battle fronts the artillery has continued to roar night and day. The bombardments in Picardy have been especially violent.

It is not allowed by the censor to say just where the Americans are located in the Picardy zone. They hold part of the French line south of Grivesnes and west of Montdidier at a point between 15 and 20 miles southeast of Amiens. It is an important part of the front, lying at a point where the southern flank of the German salient swings eastward.

This was the forty-seventh day of the German grand offensive.

GREATEST WAR LOAN OVERSUBSCRIBED

Official Total of Third Liberty Loan Not Yet Available But Present Figures Indicate Country's Strength and Purpose.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 6.—The people of the United States, without the aid of the banks and corporate wealth of great financial institutionss, have subscribed the greatest war loan in history.

With a distribution among the farmers and working classes of he population that shows a per capita response of one in every six persons, the official total of the loan will not be available until May 13, which is the date estimated by the treasury department when reports of all bond sales will be complete and accurate. The latest total from the treasury was $3,316,628,250.

Coming at a time when the farmers are borrowing money, instead of lending and when the banks are preparing for extensions of billions in credits to wealthty individuals and industries to meet income and excess profits tax payments next month ,the third Liberty Loan surpassed all expectations. Not only did the people demonstrate the enormous monetary strength of the nation and its singleness of purpose, the wide distribution has prevented undue financial displacement and greatly stabilized the war credit structure of the treasury.

WANT HALF HOLIDAY OR THREATEN TIE-UP

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, May 6.—Work on government shipbuilding here is threatened with a tie-up unless 1,000 iron workers are given half holidays. When they left work Saturday they gave notice that they would not return today unless given assurance they should have a weekly half holiday in the future.

The fear that work on government ships under construction would be halted, passed away today when the men returned to work at the Chicago Shipbuilding Plant after having walked out Saturday noon and stated that they would not return again unless a Saturday half holiday was granted.

The walkout, it appears, was due to a misunderstanding.

When the United States took over the plant it was agreed that Saturday half holidays were to begin in June. The iron workers today said they had been told the holidays were to begin in May.

Five or six leaders are to be questioned by Federal agents, it was stated.

More Knitted Socks Needed.

An urgent call has come for more socks for the men of S. C. 78 and S. C. 39, the boats assigned to the W. C. T. U. of Ulster county for equipment of knitted articles.

Your chairman has just sent to S. C. 78, 15 well-filled comfort kits and an extra pair of socks went with each kit. As the sailor boys say, "Socks do have such a way of wearing out." The life of a sock is short.

Chairman of Knitting for Women's Christian Temperance Union of Ulster County.

Germans Destroy Another Hospital.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 6.—The Dr. Alexis Carrel Hospital at Noyon, endowed by John D. Rockefeller, has been completely destroyed by German shells.

Noyon is on the Picardy battle front, lying on the southern flank of the wedge which the Germans drove towards Amiens. There has been heavy fighting around the place.

CHILD SUSTAINS FRACTURED SKULL

Patrick McDonough, captain of the barge "E. P. Howard," while riding at 11:30 o'clock Sunday night on a Colonial division trolley car, at a point on Clinton avenue, near St. James street, attempted to change his seat while the car was in motion. He had his four-year-old son in his arms. Both fell out of the car. They were taken to the office of Dr. William Kemble on Clinton avenue, where the doctor found that the child had a fractured skull. The father was cut about the face and sustained injuries of the arms. Later they were removed to Dr. Kemble's sanitarium. The father decided not to have the boy operated upon and they left the sanitarium.

RUSSIAN BLACK SEA FLEET CAPTURED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 6.—The Russian Black Sea fleet has been captured intact, it was officially announced in Constantinople, according to news agency despatch received here today.

The despatch quoted the Turkish statement as saying further that the former German cruiser Goeben was at Sebastopol where the capture was effected.

According to the Clowes Naval Manual the Russian Black Sea fleet consisted approximately of ten battleships, four cruisers, over forty destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines, two gunboats and other small craft. When the German and Ukrainain forces began their march upon Odessa the Russian fleet was in that harbor. It took flight as the Germans approached the city, going to Sebastopol, in Crimea. During the turbulent days after the Bolsheviki assumed control of the Russian government a mutiny broke out on the Black Sea fleet and it was seized by Bolsevik sympathizers. There was a terrible massacre of naval officers.

PRESIDENT ORDERS INVESTIGATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 6.—President Wilson today directed Attorney General Gregory to conduct an investigation into the aircraft situation.

The instructions to the attorney general were investigating specifically the charges of Gutzon Borglum, who made an inquiry into the work of the aircraft board at the request of the president. Borglum charged in congress that a ring controlled the output of aircraft and that this was the reason great progress was not made.

GERMANY LAUNCHES PEACE OFFENSIVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 6.—Germany has made her first definite move in the new peace offensive by sending out a peace feeler to England, consisting of eight terms, two of which promise the renunciation of all German claims in the west and the restoration of Belgium.

The peace agent that Germany is said to have sent to London is commonly supposed to be a former war minister of Holland, said a Central News dispatch from The Hague.

Advices from the Dutch capital ths afternoon outlined the German terms as follows:

1—Germany renounces all claims in the west.

2—Belgium to be restored to autonomous independence.

3—Alsace-Lorraine to receive autonomy within the German Federation.

4—The status in the east to remain as at present.

5—Austria-Hungary to make concessions to Italy in Trentino.

6—The Balkan question to be decided at an international conference.

7—All questions affecting Africa and Asia Minor to be solved at the peace table.

8—Germany to abandon all claims to Kiao-Chau but to require certain economic concessions from China.

There is a disposition in German circles to speak freely of the new proposals which, it is reported, have already been made known to the British foreign office, the dispatches from The Hague added. It is regarded as certain that they were inspired from Berlin.

Kiao-Chau, which Germany promised to give up, was a leasehold on the Chinese coast. Germany secured a ninety-nine year lease on the tract and built a strong fort there. The fort was attacked by Japanese and British forces at the outbreak of the war and it was reduced. The allies then occupied Kiao-Chau.

The horse was tied to a tree. The wagon was not damaged. A blanket was missing. It is thought that the rig was taken by some "joy riders."

FRENCH WOMEN WEAR WOODEN SHOES

PRIV. CLARENCE L. EDWARDS.

Private Clarence L. Edwards of the 5th Company, 2d. M. M. Regiment, now in France, has written to a friend in this city:

"Have arrived here after a nice, long, seasick journey. Am now over it and feeling fine, but it took me quite a few days to get over the effects. We did not get any too much to eat, especially toward the end of the trip, when I began to regain my appetite. We could buy some candy, but that was all sold out before the end of the trip.

"After we reached land in a hungry mood, cake and candy were very scarce and what you could buy was very high and not as good as our cake and candy.

"Now we are getting good eats and plenty of it. Our beds are rather hard for we are sleeping on boards for a while, but now we are getting used to them. We do not understand the language or the money yet. We can spend our money here just the same. The girls or women here go around with wooden shoes on. Don't know what they will wear in the Easter parade here today. Suppose you will be out. Am not allowed to say very much, so will have to make this letter short."

FOUR STAR HERO IS NATIVE OF MODENA

Served in Cuba, Philippines and China and is Now Awaiting Appointment as General Quartermaster Agent.

James J. Hayes, a native of Modena, claims the right of honor as a four star hero, and has sent a four star service flag to his old home at Modena to commemorate his services for Uncle Sam in three campaigns and on the Panama Canal. Mr. Hayes entered the service of our country as a mule drive at Havana, Cuba, in 1898, under Major Chauncey B. Baker, who was chief quartermaster of the island of Cuba. Mr. Hayes shook hands with General Gomez when he surrendered the Cuban army to the Americans.

Later he served under Captain Thomas Swobe enroute to the Philippines with 500 mules and horses via Alaska and Japan, and was a mule driver for General Lawton on the island of Luzon, and due to his work was promoted to a quartermaster agent, and assigned to Captain Perry at San Ferando, P. I.

Mr. Hayes went to China with Captain Ramsey of the 9th Regular Infantry as a quartermaster agent and was scout and contractor for the English army in China also.

He passed the civil service examination and was sent to Panama in 1905 and had the honor of being the first civil service foreman on the Panama Canal. He left the Panama Canal in 1912, and is now in New York city awaiting appointment from General Goethals as a general quartermaster agent.

Mr. Hayes also had three brothers in the Spanish-American war as soldiers. Mr. Hayes is now engaged in learing to speak French as he must be able to speak that language if he goes to France. He now speaks Spanish and Italian, and is a first class wireless and wire operator.

EASIEST WAY TO GET LETTERS TO FRANCE

Until American Postoffice Number is Known, Letters Reach Our Boys More Quickly by Using Old Camp Address.

Somewhere in France, April 18.—I do not think I ever enjoyed letters more than those written back in January and just received, having been delayed because of incomplete address. And here is a tip for friends of the men who sail for France: Judging from my experience, your letters will reach them more quickly, pending the arrival of a definite address, if you keep on using the old camp address and say nothing about France, until you have a definite address. This applies to Q. M. C. men and men in depot brigades. Of course, those who have a settled unit that they belong to can be found easily and you should put A. E. F. on letters to them. But for those of us who are not permanently attached to a unit, just put on the old camp address until you hear our A. P. O. number. I received my Freemans and other mail sent to Fort Jay, long after I was here, in good time, but the mail addressed to me here without my P. O. number is just beginning to find me.

For the past few days we have been very busy moving from our store room into another warehouse. Tonight I came over to the Y to see the movies and found the pictures the same I had seen two weeks ago. So after some French people sang I came out to write. They were former residents of California, but for a long time resided in Paris. The woman is an opera singer and the man a violinist and composer, who has been decorated for his ability. He recently wrote a song for the American soldiers and has been thanked for it by Gen. Pershing. He certainly is some fiddler.

Sometimes I wish I was a sailor like "Pete" Cole, so I could get the measles and come home for a furlough. The girls we know in the city are not like those Lieut. Reading says are "too familiar," but refined and educated people, refugees from the north. They dance and play the piano well and speak English, but with an accent they want to remove. They also want to acquire a working knowledge of everyday "English as she is spoke" so they will not talk like a chapter from a book and we are swapping that off in exchange for French. They live in the suburbs about 15 minutes out on the trolley.

Mentioning the trolley reminds me of how well the motorwomen and "conductoresses" do their work. I have been surprised at their business-like efficiency and at the skill of the women chauffeurs. Nearly every time we go to town we meet a woman taxi driver coming out who sure can drive. When the boys see her coming they give her plenty of room, for she is surely some speed-stress, but she can handle the car to perfection.

It looks as though I am anchored here until the finish. I can stand it, but would rather get up near where things happen. But this work has to be done, too, and the only thing is to obey orders.

I do not understand how that fellow saw Ennist and Grant, unless he is traveling all over France, for they are about two days' journey apart and about as far apart as they can be and be in France. There are no hills or mountains here. It is a sandy plain and we are an hour's journey by truck from the city. I think this must have been ocean bottom at one time, like southern New Jersey. There are no streams here until you come to town where there is a river.

Some of the boys over here must be writing thrilling tales. Some of them at the front have the goods—others are stretching their imaginations. I am just in France, as safe as if at home, seeing nothing more exciting than the arrival and departure of troops and hearing guns only at practice. I might tell a thrilling tale that would be true—to a certain extent. I might say, like the soldier who was working in a practice trench near a prison camp: "I am in a trench in hearing of the sound of the voices of the Germans and I hear the guns boom"—at target practice. That would be truthful, but would not mean just what most folks would think it meant. The boys at the front are not saying much—they are too busy.

I have just heard of the new postal rules as to packages and I suppose it is right. Tons of needless stuff was sent here at great expense and the most of it we can easily get along without. The folks at home need their money they paid for postage and the government needs the room on the ships for necessities. With the money they now do not spend for postage on trash the folks at home can give the Red Cross a big boost and have some for the next Y. M. C. A. campaign. Kingston did fine for the K. of C. You can trust old Ulster to be on the job. I hope it make a new record for the Red Cross, for that is the thing that really cares for the boys when they need it most—and casualty lists are coming in now.

Where did you come out on the Third Liberty Loan? "Over the top" again, I'd be willing to bet my next pay. A county like Ulster makes a fellow feel proud he belongs there.

We have had little overseas caps issued to us and are to get trousers like the civilian article as to cut. We now have a mess fund and one of the best messes in France. We each contribute five francs a month and with this aid our mess sergeant gives us sugar and milk, (condensed once a day) salad, jam and [illegible] and on Sunday a real dinner, as trades our beef allowance a [illegible] per veal and pork. Last Sunday we had veal, green peas, apple sauce, French fried potatoes, [illegible] have apple sauce, roast [illegible] beans and I don't know

31 MORE CASES OF MEASLES REPORTED

The epidemic of measles in Kingston shows no signs of letting up. Saturday 18 more cases were reported to the health board and 13 cases on Sunday, making a total of 31 new cases.

CASUALTY LIST OF COPS GROWING

F. C. Smith of the Sangerties Foundry & Machine Company of that village was arrested by Officer Shader Sunday evening. He is accused of not stopping his car when the driver of the car ahead signaled and as a result he crashed into the silent cop at the corner of Broadway and Railroad avenue, placing the cop on the casualty list. Mr. Smith left a cash bail for his appearance in police court Tuesday.

Officer Henry, the silent cop on duty at Broadway and Henry street, was again placed on the retired list for the second time this season Saturday afternoon. Officer Dederick, at Broadway and Dederick street, was also injured while on duty Sunday evening. In all cases the damage to the silent cops was paid for by the ones who assaulted them.

PARIS HAS THREE DAYS' REST.

Long Range Cannon Silent But News Guns Are Expected.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 6.—The long range German cannon that has been bombarding Paris has been silent for three days. This is taken as confirmation of the report that it had received a drect hit from French artillery. This is the third of the "Big Berthas" to be knocked out but reports received from Holland are to the effect that other giant guns are on their way through Belgium.

Honor Flag at City Hall.

Kingston's honor flag for going over the top in the Third Liberty Loan drive has been delivered at the city hall by Mayor Canfield and will be placed over the front entrance to the building. No ceremonies will mark the flinging of the flag to the breeze.

GREATEST WAR LOAN OVERSUBSCRIBED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 6.—The people of the United States, without the aid of the banks and corporate wealth of great financial institutionss, have subscribed the greatest war loan in history.

With a distribution among the farmers and working classes of be population that shows a per capita response of one in every six persons, the official total of the loan will not be available until May 13; which is the date estimated by the treasury department when reports of all bond sales will be complete and accurate. The latest total from the treasury was $3,816,628,250.

Coming at a time when the farmers are harvesting money instead of lending and when the banks are preparing for extensions of billions in credits to wealthy individuals and industries to meet income and excess profits tax payments next month the third Liberty Loan surpassed all expectations. Not only did the people demonstrate the enormous monetary strength of the nation and its singleness of purpose, the wide distribution has prevented undue financial displacement and greatly stabilized the war credit structure of the treasury.

London, May 6.—The Russian Black Sea fleet has been captured intact, it was officially announced in Constantinople, according to news agency despatch received here today.

The despatch quoted the Turkish statement as saying further that the former German cruiser Goeben was at Sebastopol where the capture was effected.

According to the Clowes Naval Manual the Russian Black Sea fleet consisted approximately of ten battleships, four cruisers, over forty destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines, two gunboats and other small craft. When the German and Ukrainain forces began their march upon Odessa the Russian fleet was in that harbor. It took flight as the Germans approached the city, going to Sebastopol, in Crimea. During the turbulent days after the Bolsheviki assumed control of the Russian government a mutiny broke out on the Black Sea fleet and it was seized by Bolserik sympathizers. There was a terrible massacre of naval officers.

PRESIDENT ORDERS INVESTIGATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 6.—President Wilson today directed Attorney General Gregory to conduct an investigation into the aircraft situation.

The instructions to the attorney general were investigating specifically the charges of Gutzon Borglum, who made an inquiry into the work of the aircraft board at the request of the president. Borglum charged in congress that a ring controlled the output of aircraft and that this was the reason great progress was not made.

GERMANY LAUNCHES PEACE OFFENSIVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 6.—Germany has made her first definite move in the new peace offensive by sending out a peace feeler to England, consisting of eight terms, two of which promise the renunciation of all German claims in the west and the restoration of Belgium.

The peace agent that Germany is said to have sent to London is commonly supposed to be a former war minister of Holland, said a Central News dispatch from The Hague.

Advices from the Dutch capital this afternoon outlined the German terms as follows:

1—Germany renounces all claims in the west.

2—Belgium to be restored to autonomous independence.

4—The status in the east to remain as at present.

5—Austria-Hungary to make concessions to Italy in Trentino.

6—The Balkan question to be decided at an international conference.

7—All questions affecting Africa and Asia Minor to be solved at the peace table.

8—Germany to abandon all claims to Kiao-Chau but to require certain economic concessions from China.

There is a disposition in German circles to speak freely of the new proposals which, it is reported, have already been made known to the British foreign office, the dispatches from The Hague added. It is regarded as certain that they were inspired from Berlin.

Kiao-Chau, which Germany promised to give up, was a leasehold on the Chinese coast. Germany secured a ninety-nine year lease on the tract and built a strong fort there. The fort was attacked by Japanese and British forces at the outbreak of the war and it was reduced. The allies then occupied Kiao-Chau.

RECOVER LOST RIG.

Horse and Wagon Found Early This Morning at Cantine's Bridge.

Officials of the sheriff's office about two o'clock this morning found at Cantine's bridge a horse and wagon owned by Charles Bogart of Atwood. Mr. Bogart left his rig in front of a hotel at Atwood and when he came out the rig had disappeared. He reported the matter and in less than three hours the officials recovered the rig. The horse was tied to a tree. The wagon was not damaged. A blanket was missing. It is thought that the rig was taken by some "joy riders."

FRENCH WOMEN WEAR WOODEN SHOES

PRIV. CLARENCE L. EDWARDS.

Private Clarence L. Edwards of the 5th Company, 2d. M. M. Regiment, now in France, has written to a friend in this city:

"Have arrived here after a nice, long, seasick journey. Am now over it and feeling fine, but it took me quite a few days to get over the effects. We did not get any too much to eat, especially toward the end of the trip, when I began to regain my appetite. We could buy some candy, but that was all sold out before the end of the trip.

"After we reached land in a hungry mood, cake and candy were very scarce and what you could buy was very high and not as good as our cake and candy.

"Now we are getting good eats and plenty of it. Our beds are rather hard for we are sleeping on boards for a while, but now we are getting used to them. We do not understand the language or the money yet. We can spend our money here just the same. The girls or women here go around with wooden shoes on. Don't know what they will wear in the Easter parade here today. Suppose you will be out. Am not allowed to say very much, so will have to make this letter short."

FOUR STAR HERO IS NATIVE OF MODENA

Served in Cuba, Philippines and China and is Now Awaiting Appointment as General Quartermaster Agent.

James J. Hayes, a native of Modena, claims the right of honor as a four star hero, and has sent a four star service flag to his old home at Modena to commemorate his services for Uncle Sam in three campaigns and on the Panama Canal. Mr. Hayes entered the service of our country as a mule drive at Havana, Cuba, in 1898, under Major Chauncey B. Baker, who was chief quartermaster of the island of Cuba. Mr. Hayes shook hands with General Gomez when he surrendered the Cuban army to the Americans.

Later he served under Captain Thomas Swobe enroute to the Philippines with 500 mules and horses via Alaska and Japan, and was a mule driver for General Lawton on the island of Luzon, and due to his work was promoted to a quartermaster agent, and assigned to Captain Perry at San Ferando, P. I.

Mr. Hayes went to China with Captain Ramsey of the 9th Regular Infantry as a quartermaster agent and was scout and contractor for the English army in China also.

He passed the civil service examination and was sent to Panama in 1905 and had the honor of being the first civil service foreman on the Panama Canal. He left the Panama Canal in 1912, and is now in New York city awaiting appointment from General Goethals as a general quartermaster agent.

Mr. Hayes also had three brothers in the Spanish-American war as soldiers. Mr. Hayes is now engaged in learing to speak French as he must be able to speak that language if he goes to France. He now speaks Spanish and Italian, and is a first class wireless and wire operator.

EASIEST WAY TO GET LETTERS TO FRANCE

Somewhere in France, April 18.—I do not think I ever enjoyed letters more than those written back in January and just received, having been delayed because of incomplete address. And here is a tip for friends of the men who sail for France: Judging from my experience, your letters will reach them more quickly, pending the arrival of a definite address, if you keep on using the old camp address and say nothing about France, until you have a definite address. This applies to Q. M. C. men and men in depot brigades. Of course, those who have a settled unit that they belong to can be found easily and you should put A. E. F. on letters to them. But for those of us who are not permanently attached to a unit, just put on the old camp address until you hear our A. P. O. number. I received my Freemans and other mail sent to Fort Jay, long after I was here, in good time, but the mail addressed to me here without my P. O. number is just beginning to find me.

For the past few days we have been very busy moving from our store room into another warehouse. Tonight I came over to the Y to see the movies and found the pictures the same I had seen two weeks ago. So after some French people sang I came out to write. They were former residents of California, but for a long time resided in Paris. The woman is an opera singer and the man a violinist and composer, who has been decorated for his ability. He recently wrote a song for the American soldiers and has been thanked for it by Gen. Pershing. He certainly is some fiddler.

Sometimes I wish I was a sailor like "Pete" Cole, so I could get the measles and come home for a furlough. The girls we know in the city are not like those Lieut. Reading says are "too familiar," but refined and educated people, refugees from the north. They dance and play the piano well and speak English, but with an accent they want to remove. They also want to acquire a working knowledge of everyday "English as she is spoke" so they will not talk like a chapter from a book and we are swapping that off in exchange for French. They live in the suburbs about 15 minutes out on the trolley.

Mentioning the trolley reminds me of how well the motorwomen and "conductoresses" do their work. I have been surprised at their business-like efficiency and at the skill of the women chauffeurs. Nearly every time we go to town we meet a woman taxi driver coming out who sure can drive. When the boys see her coming they give her plenty of room, for she is surely some speed-stress, but she can handle the car to perfection.

It looks as though I am anchored here until the finish. I can stand it, but would rather get up near where things happen. But this work has to be done, too, and the only thing is to obey orders.

I do not understand how that fellow saw Ennist and Grant, unless he is traveling all over France, for they are about two days' journey apart and about as far apart as they can be and be in France. There are no hills or mountains here. It is a sandy plain and we are an hour's journey by truck from the city. I think this must have been ocean bottom at one time, like southern New Jersey. There are no streams here until you come to town where there is a river.

Some of the boys over here must be writing thrilling tales. Some of them at the front have the goods—others are stretching their imaginations. I am just in France, as safe as if at home, seeing nothing more exciting than the arrival and departure of troops and hearing guns only at practice. I might tell a thrilling tale that would be true—to a certain extent. I might say, like the soldier who was working in a practice trench near a prison camp: "I am in a trench in hearing of the sound of the voices of the Germans and I hear the guns boom"—at target practice. That would be truthful, but would not mean just what most folks would think it meant. The boys at the front are not saying much—they are too busy.

I have just heard of the new postal rules as to packages and I suppose it is right. Tons of needless stuff was sent here at great expense and the most of it we can easily get along without. The folks at home need their money they paid for postage and the government needs the room on the ships for necessities. With the money they now do not spend for postage on trash the folks at home can give the Red Cross a big boost and have some for the next Y. M. C. A campaign. Kingston did fine for the K. of C. You can trust old Ulster to be on the job. I hope it make a new record for the Red Cross, for that is the thing that really cares for the boys when they need it most—and casualty lists are coming in now.

Where did you come out on the Third Liberty Loan? "Over the top" again, I'd be willing to bet my next pay. A county like Ulster makes a fellow feel proud he belongs there.

We have had little overseas caps issued to us and are to get trousers like the civilian article as to cut. We now have a mess fund and one of the best messes in France. We each contribute five francs a month and with this aid our mess sergeant gives us sugar and milk, (condensed) once a day; salad, jam and [illegible] and on Sunday a real dinner. [illegible] per veal, green peas, apple sa[illegible] French fried potatoes, [illegible] have apple sauce, roast [illegible] beans and I don't kno[illegible]

The epidemic of measles in Kingston shows no signs of letting up. Saturday 18 more cases were reported to the health board and 13 cases on Sunday, making a total of 31 new cases.

CASUALTY LIST OF COPS GROWING

F. C. Smith of the Snyderties Foundry & Machine Company of that village was arrested by Officer Shader Sunday evening. He is accused of not stopping his car when the driver of the car ahead signaled and as a result he crashed into the silent cop at the corner of Broadway and Railroad avenue, placing the cop on the casualty list. Mr. Smith left a cash bail for his appearance in police court Tuesday.

Officer Henry, the silent cop on duty at Broadway and Henry street, for the second time this season Saturday afternoon. Officer Dederick, at Broadway and Dederick street, was also injured while on duty Sunday evening. In all cases the damage to the silent cops was paid for by the ones who assaulted them.

PARIS HAS THREE DAYS' REST.

Long Range Cannon Silent But New Guns Are Expected.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, May 6.—The long range German cannon that has been bombarding Paris has been silent for three days. This is taken as confirmation of the report that it had received a direct hit from French artillery. This is the third of the "Big Berthas" to be knocked out but reports received from Holland are to the effect that other giant guns are on their way through Belgium.

Honor Flag at City Hall.

Kingston's honor flag for going over the top in the Third Liberty Loan drive has been delivered at the city hall by Mayor Canfield and will be placed over the front entrance to the building. No ceremonies will mark the flinging of the flag to the breeze.

CASHDOLLAR TELLS OF CAMP DIX LIFE

CORP. ALBERT CASHDOLLAR.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cashdollar of Woodstock, who left Kingston September 29 for Camp Dix, now at Camp Gordon, Ga. Address, 320th Field Artillery, Bat. E, Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.

April 16, 1918.

Dear Mother:

Will write you tonight a little. We are going to leave here in the morning for Camp Gordon. Had a shower today. It rained the hardest I ever saw it since I have been in the south.

Would love to have you see this part of the country. It is very nice just now. I am in a place just opened up for the boys, in which to write and read books. They have a phonograph, too. It is playing now, "Nearer My God to Thee," your favorite hymn. It makes me think of home. Hope I will live to see the end of this war and be back in Woodstock to hear it sung again. I am sure I will only be waiting. How queer; they have just put on another, "Lord I am Coming Home." I know I am. It may be a long time, but I am sure I will return. Write when you can, as ever,

Your oldest son,
ALBERT C.

Love to all the children and you and dad. Is it getting warmer up there yet. The trees here have small peaches and apples on them already.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Socrates said: "Bad men live that they may eat and drink, whereas good men eat and drink to live."

Time ripens all things. No man is born wise.—Cervantes.

WHEATLESS FOODS.

We are asked to keep wheatless day, meaning no wheat products are used, just as we understand meatless means no meat products, such as pork, beef or mutton are to be used on such days. Even gravies may be made using corn starch, corn flour, or barley flour as a substitute for the usual wheat flour.

Brown Bread.—Take one cupful each of corn meal, rye flour, barley flour, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, tablespoonful of soda, a fourth of a teaspoonful each of ginger and salt, all well sifted together. The soda may be added to two cupfuls of sour milk and three-fourths of a cupful of molasses, combine the mixtures and mix thoroughly. Steam in well buttered mold for five hours or in baking powder tins for three hours.

Corn and Rice Muffins.—Take a half cupful of cooked rice, a cupful of milk, one egg, a tablespoonful of sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one and one-fourth cupfuls of white corn meal and two tablespoonful of fat. Combine the mixtures as for muffins and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Quaker Tea Cakes.—Take two cupfuls of quaker oats, one cupful of sugar, two eggs, slightly beaten, one fourth of a cupful of any sweet fat, a teaspoonful of baking power and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Drop on a buttered pan an inch apart. Bake in a moderate oven.

Fig Filling.—Take one cupful of chopped figs, add a third of a cupful of corn syrup and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Heat in a double boiler until smooth enough to spread. Spread while hot on the cake. Such a filling may be used as a top frosting, thus saving sugar.

Spoon Bread.—Add a fourth of a cupful of cracklings or pork scraps to three cupfuls of boiling water, add a cupful of cornmeal and cook one hour; then add two beaten eggs, a half teaspoonful of salt, and bake in a buttered dish three-fourths of an hour.

Few Really Think.

When a man is strong physically, hard physical work is a joy. When he is weak, it is a painful ordeal. The same applies to a man who is either strong or weak mentally, and has to do hard mental work. By mental exercise you may strengthen the brain, as by physical exercise you strengthen the muscles. Not one person in a thousand thinks—that is to say, thinks hard. They only think they think.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Tuesday.

Breakfast—Pearl barley with stewed raisins and top milk; potato fritters; coffee.

Lunch or Supper — Vegetable souffle; potato bread; *apples baked with marsmallows.

Dinner—Cabbage cheese roll with tomato sauce; Lyonnaise potatoes; sauted parsnips; *fig cream.

*May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

Vegetable souffle is a custard mixture combining equal quantities of thick white sauce and vegetable pulp (cooked vegetables put through a sieve). The yolks and whites of eggs beaten separately are added in the proportion of 3 eggs to 2 cups of the mixture. The dish is baked in a slow oven.

Apples Baked With Marshmallows.

Prepare apples as for baking, but boil whole for 5 minutes. Fill the centers with marshmallows cut in small pieces and bake until the apples are tender and the marshmallows are melted and brown. Serve with or without whipped cream.

Cottage Cheese Roll.

One cup cottage cheese, 1 cup boiled lima beans, ½ cup cooked greens, 1 cup cooked tomato, bread crumbs.

Put the cheese, beans and greens through the meat grinder and enough dry bread to clean the grinder well. Season the mixture with salt, paprika, onion juice and add the tomato. If it seems too moist to hold its shape add more bread crumbs. Form into a roll and bake, basting occasionally with butter or drippings.

Fig Cream.

One cup milk, 1 cup water, ¼ cup honey, ¼ cup chopped figs, ¼ cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon maple sugar.

Scald the milk and water and add the honey, salt and cornstarch mixed smoothly with cold water. Cook in a double boiler 10 minutes. Beat the egg yolks slightly and add to them the hot mixture. Return to double boiler and cook three minutes. Remove from fire. Cover the chopped figs with the boiling water, or use left over stewed figs, and add the lemon juice. Cook until the figs are soft, and add to the first mixture; turn into a serving dish to cool. Beat the whites of the eggs stiffly; add the maple sugar and pile by spoonfuls on top of the pudding.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Human Brain Is Heaviest.

Except for the whale, the elephant and the porpoise, no living thing has a brain which weighs as much as the minimum of the human's. In the entire human nervous system, according to the estimates of Professor Donaldson, there is the astounding total of 11,200,000,000 nerve cells. In the study of these cells and their grouped relation to the five divisions of the brain as well as to the functions which they perform, several classes of scientific investigators are engaged.

New Vapor Way of Treating all Cold Troubles

North Carolina Druggist Invents a Salve That is Vaporized by the Body Heat.

NOTHING TO SWALLOW YOU JUST RUB IT ON

Particularly Valuable to Mothers With Small Children. Local Druggists are Offering 25c Jars on 30 Days' Trial.

Colds are simply inflammations of the air passages and everybody knows that the only way to reach the air passages direct is by means of vapors that can be inhaled. The old fashioned vapor treatments, however, were cumbersome and costly, but a North Carolina druggist solved this problem by inventing a salve that is vaporized by the body heat.

This preparation, known as Vick's VapoRub, is now being introduced here. The local druggists know the danger of constant "dosing, especially to small children, and are anxious that their customers should try this new "outside" treatment. Arrangements have accordingly been made with the manufacturers to sell the small size jars, price 25c, on 30 days' trial—no charge to be made if the customer is not delighted with the results.

For deep chest colds, sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis or incipient pneumonia VapoRub should be applied over the throat and chest and covered with a warm flannel cloth. The vapors arising carry the medication, with each breath, to the air passages and lungs. In addition VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest.

For head colds, hay fever, catarrh or asthmatic troubles VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled. Croup is usually relieved within fifteen minutes and one application at bedtime prevents a night attack.—Advertisement.

The Eager Life.

Whenever a process of life communicates an eagerness to him who lives it, there the life becomes genuinely significant. Sometimes the eagerness is more knit up with the motor activities, sometimes with the perceptions, sometimes with the imagination, sometimes with reflective thought. But, wherever it is found, there is the zest, the tingle, the excitement of reality; and there is "importance" in the only real and positive sense in which importance ever anywhere can be.—William Jones.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our appreciation and thanks for the acts of neighbors and friends, also to the Knights of Columbus for their kindness at the funeral of our son, Daniel Walsh.

A HOMEMADE FIRELESS COOKER

Requirements.

Butter tub, candy bucket, wooden box, trunk, galvanized ash can or any other similar receptacle that can be fitted with strong hinges and fastenings.

Sheet asbestos one-eight inch thick.

Ground cork.

A deep bucket or kettle of agate, galvanized iron or tin with tight fitting cover, small enough to permit space of at least three inches between the case and the top, bottom and sides of the bucket.

A kettle or bucket of agate or aluminum with a tight-fitting cover that can be clamped down. This must be small enough to fit in first agate bucket. Seamless alumium is most commonly used. Special fireless-cooker utensils can generally be obtained from a local hardware dealer or a firm that manufactures fireless-cookers.

Heavy muslin, drilling or denim for cushion.

A soapstone, slightly smaller than the bottom of the larger kettle. Heavy wrapping paper, cardboard, shellac.

Line the case or tub and its cover with the wrapping paper, allowing the paper to extend 3 or 4 inches above the receptacle. Cover the outside of the graniteware kettle with the asbestos. Pack the bottom of the case tightly with ground cork 3 or 4 inches deep. Set the kettle in this and pack the space between the kettle and the sides of the case with the cork. Cut cardboard to fit over the space between the tub and the pail, paste wrapping paper over cardboard. Turn the wrapping paper which extends over the top of the tub down to the height of the tub, tack around the edges and shellac.

Make a cushion, cutting two pieces of muslin the size of the cover of the tub and joining the sides with a three-inch wide strip of the material. Fill this with the cork.

Put the soapstone in the kettle and the food receptacle on the soapstone.

Fireless Cooker Cereal Dishes.

Turkish Pilau.

½ cup rice, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons green pepper or onion, chopped, 1¼ cup stock or water, 1 cup tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt

Wash the rice. If the pepper is used, discard the seeds. If fresh tomatoes are used, remove the skins, and cut the tomatoes in pieces before measuring them. Place all the ingredients together in the food container, bring the mixture to the boiling point and transfer the kettle to the fireless cooker. Allow it to remain in the cooker for 1 hour. Stir the pilau lightly with a fork before serving it.

Hominy Grits.

5 cups water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup hominy grits. Pick over and wash hominy grits. Have the salted water boiling and add the hominy slowly so as not to stop the boiling. Continue to boil rapidly for 10 minutes over the fire, then put the vessel into the cooker as quickly as possible and allow it to remain (over night) for about 12 hours. The vessel of hominy may be placed in another vessel of boiling water before being placed in the cooker.

Samp (Coarse Hominy).

One-half cup samp soaked in 1 cup cold water 6 hours. Add 1½ teaspoons salt and 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly 45 minutes. Put into cooker for 8 to 12 hours.

Oatmeal.

Three cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup oatmeal. Carefully look over the oatmeal and remove any husks or foreign substance. Add gradually to the boiling salted water and boil rapidly for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Now it may be put into the cooker. After 2 or 3 hours it is soft, but a better flavor will be developed by longer cooking. It may remain in the cooker overnight in the same manner as the hominy grits are cooked (about 12 hours). Next morning it may have to be reheated. To do this, set the cooker pan in a pan of water over the fire. When the water boils up well, the oatmeal may be served.

Plain Rice.

One cup rice, 3 cups water, 1½ teaspoon salt. Look over and wash the rice thoroughly through several waters, until cloudiness is removed. Bring the salted water to a boil, ½ teaspoon lard may be added. Then add the rice gradually to the boiling water and allow it to boil 5 minutes before putting it into the cooker for 45 minutes or an hour.

AUXILIARY ADOPTS NEW PLAN FOR FUNDS

Supplies for Kingston City Hospital Must be Purchased so Ladies' Auxiliary Makes Appeal.

A simple plan to raise money needed for supplies has been adopted by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Kingston City Hospital.

There have already been two charity balls in Kingston this year, both splendidly patronized and successfully carried out, so that it would hardly be good policy to hold another dance so soon.

An entertainment for the raising of money means the giving of a great deal of time by the women who are busy with Red Cros work, which must not for a moment be neglected. And yet the city hospital should not be allowed to want for linen, blankets, pillows, nightrobes and garments for the wards.

These things have been supplied for years by the auxiliary of the hospital. The organization has no income other than the annual dues of members and the occasional entertainments given for its benefit.

The opera "Mikado" put on in 1911 was the last benefit given for the auxiliary, and it is from the proceeds of that opera that the women have kept the hospital supplied for the last seven years. The more recent entertainments, "Flag Ball" and "Butterfly Ball" were for the building fund of the hospital and not a dollar of that money was used for anything but that fund.

So much for the past. What now for the future? The hospital must be kept supplied with everything that such an institution needs. Hundreds of people in this city are interested enough in the hospital to buy tickets for any entertainment the women of the auxiliary might arrange. Many would be patrons and buy five tickets. A few, in case of such a brilliant function as the "Butterfly Ball" would buy a box for $25.

The members of the auxiliary are asking such people to give to the fund they have pledged themselves to raise. One thousand dollars is the amount desired, a small sum indeed divided among the many people who are proud of the splendidly equipped building which the city now boasts of.

You, who are reading this, if there were to be another hospital ball, would you not buy tickets? Then send in the price of two. Would you be a patron? Then send five dollars. Could you afford to buy a box to see Lada dance? Then dream of the time you saw her and send $25 to help your city hospital.

The auxiliary is not asking for large donations, but they ask the friends of the hospital to give their support by coming in voluntarily to aid in raising this fund.

The money may be given to any member, or sent to any one of the officers. Checks should be made out to the treasurer.

ACCORD.

Accord, May 6.—Let us not refrain from lending our money to the government simply because the third Liberty Loan campaign has closed. Accord, in common with all other money order post offices, has an ample supple of war savings and thrift stamps on hand to accommodate those who did not see their way clear to purchase a bond. However, owning a bond is no reason for not purchasing the war savings stamps as the latter are also a good investment since they pay 4 per cent compound interest. The price of these stamps for May is $4.16 each.

Mr. Palmer, the new station agent, is busy moving his family into the rooms vacated by Mr. Stratton.

Arbor Day was observed at the local school by improving the appearance of the school grounds and the planting of a tree.

We extend our heartiest congratulations and trust that the afternoon of her beautiful life will be so lengthened that she may be enabled to enjoy many more such happy occasions.

Dr. Pearl of Rosendale was called to attend B. Knickel Friday.

Rural Carrier P. W. Gazley has been obliged to buy a new horse.

Clean-Up Week Begins Today.

In a letter to mayors, village presidents and boards of health, Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, Commissioner of Health, designates the week beginning May 6 as Clean-Up Week.

Calling attention to the fact that Clean-Up Week is now a national custom and suggesting the necessity from a sanitary standpoint of properly disposing of rubbish, manure, garbage and other filth that has accumulated during the winter, Dr. Biggs observes that the outward appearance of a community is usually a reliable index of the character of its citizens, and emphasizes the fact that where insanitary conditions are allowed to exist, there is sure to be found an unprogressive people presided over by incompetent or ignorant officials.

If for no other reason than from a patriotic standpoint, Dr. Biggs urges that a special effort be made this year in order that the men who have left to defend their country may find home conditions better, cleaner and healthier on their return.

Attached to the letter are a number of helpful suggestions for organizing co-operative community clean-up work.

A Fine Musical Service.

The large auditorium of the St. James Methodist Church was filled Sunday night by an enthusiastic audience. The music rendered by the new quartet was of a high order yet was popular in its character. Mr. LaTour's rendering of "Gloria," by Buzzi-Peccal, was especially fine, but the pieces most enjoyd by the large congregation were patriotic, such as "America the Beautiful," sung by the quartet, and the "Liberty Anthem," by French, which was sung twice, by the quartet first, and then by the quartet and congregation. Dr. Baragwanath never spoke plainer than last night when he compared the ideals of the Kaiser and the junker party with those of the Man of Nazareth. Evidently the people like to hear such plain talks if one can judge by the audience. Next Sunday night the topic will be, "The Will to Victory!" America needs to realize that we are really at war, and the churches must do their part in crystalizing public sentiment.

CASHDOLLAR TELLS OF CAMP DIX LIFE

CORP. ALBERT CASHDOLLAR.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cashdollar of Woodstock, who left Kingston September 29 for Camp Dix, now at Camp Gordon, Ga. Address, 320th Field Artillery, Bat. E, Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.

April 16, 1918.

Dear Mother:

Will write you tonight a little. We are going to leave here in the morning for Camp Gordon. Had a shower today. It rained the hardest I ever saw it since I have been in the south.

Would love to have you see this part of the country. It is very nice just now. I am in a place just opened up for the boys, in which to write and read books.. They have a phonograph, too. It is playing now, "Nearer My God to Thee." your favorite hymn. It makes me think of home. Hope I will live to see the end of this war and be back in Woodstock to hear it sung again. I am sure I will only be waiting. How queer: they have just put on another, "Lord I am Coming Home." I know I am. It may be a long time, but I am sure I will return. Write when you can, as ever,

Your oldest son.

ALBERT C.

Love to all the children and you and dad. Is it getting warmer up there yet. The trees here have small peaches and apples on them already.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Tuesday.

Breakfast—Pearl barley with stewed raisins and top milk; potato fritters; coffee.

Lunch or Supper—Vegetable souffle; potato bread; *apples baked with marsmallows.

Dinner—Cabbage cheese roll with tomato sauce; Lyonnaise potatoes; sauted parsnips; *fig cream.

*May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal.

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.

Vegetable souffle is a custard mixture combining equal quantities of thick white sauce and vegetable pulp (cooked vegetables put through a sieve). The yolks and whites of eggs beaten separately are added in the proportion of 3 eggs to 2 cups of the mixture. The dish is baked in a slow oven.

Apples Baked With Marshmallows.

Prepare apples as for baking, but boil whole for 5 minutes. Fill the centers with marshmallows cut in small pieces and bake until the apples are tender and the marshmallows are melted and brown. Serve with or without whipped cream.

Cottage Cheese Roll.

One cup cottage cheese, 1 cup boiled lima beans, ½ cup cooked greens, 1 cup cooked tomato, bread crumbs.

Put the cheese, beans and greens through the meat grinder and enough dry bread to clean the grinder well. Season the mixture with salt, paprika, onion juice and add the tomato. If it seems too moist to hold its shape add more bread crumbs. Form into a roll and bake, basting occasionally with butter or drippings.

Fig Cream.

One cup milk, 1 cup water, ¼ cup honey, ¼ cup chopped figs, ¼ cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon maple sugar.

Scald the milk and water and add the honey, salt and cornstarch mixed smoothly with cold water. Cook in a double boiler 10 minutes. Beat the egg yolks slightly and add to them the hot mixture. Return to double boiler and cook three minutes. Remove from fire. Cover the chopped figs with the boiling water, or use left over stewed figs, and add the lemon juice. Cook until the figs are soft, and add to the first mixture; turn into a serving dish to cool. Beat the whites of the eggs stiffly; add the maple sugar and pile by spoonfuls on top of the pudding.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Socrates said: "Bad men live that they may eat and drink, whereas good men eat and drink to live."

Time ripens all things. No man is born wise.—Cervantes.

WHEATLESS FOODS.

We are asked to keep wheatless day, meaning no wheat products are used, just as we understand meatless means no meat products, such as pork, beef or mutton are to be used on such days. Even gravies may be made using corn starch, corn flour, or barley flour as a substitute for the usual wheat flour.

Brown Bread—Take one cupful each of corn meal, rye flour, barley flour, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, tablespoonful of soda, a fourth of a teaspoonful each of ginger and salt, all well sifted together. The soda may be added to two cupfuls of sour milk and three-fourths of a cupful of molasses, combine the mixtures and mix thoroughly. Steam in well buttered mold for five hours or in baking powder tins for three hours.

Corn and Rice Muffins.—Take a half cupful of cooked rice, a cupful of milk, one egg, a tablespoonful of sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one and one-fourth cupfuls of white corn meal and two tablespoonful of fat. Combine the mixtures as for muffins and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Quaker Tea Cakes.—Take two cupfuls of quaker oats, one cupful of sugar, two eggs, slightly beaten, one fourth of a cupful of any sweet fat, a teaspoonful of baking power and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Drop on a buttered pan an inch apart. Bake in a moderate oven.

Fig Filling.—Take one cupful of chopped figs, add a third of a cupful of corn syrup and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Heat in a double boiler until smooth enough to spread. Spread while hot on the cake. Such a filling may be used as a top frosting, thus saving sugar.

Spoon Bread.—Add a fourth of a cupful of cracklings or pork scraps to three cupfuls of boiling water, add a cupful of cornmeal and cook one hour; then add two beaten eggs, a half teaspoonful of salt, and bake in a buttered dish three-fourths of an hour.

Few Really Think.

When a man is strong physically, hard physical work is a joy. When he is weak, it is a painful ordeal. The same applies to a man who is either strong or weak mentally, and has to do hard mental work. By mental exercise you may strengthen the brain, as by physical exercise you strengthen the muscles. Not one person in a thousand thinks—that is to say, thinks hard. They only think they think.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10c in silver or stamps for our Up-to-Date Spring and Summer, 1918, Catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking; also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches) all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Human Brain Is Heaviest.

Except for the whale, the elephant and the porpoise, no living thing has a brain which weighs as much as the minimum of the human's. In the entire human nervous system, according to the estimates of Professor Donaldson, there is the astounding total of 11,200,000,000 nerve cells. In the study of these cells and their grouped relation to the five divisions of the brain as well as to the functions which they perform, several classes of scientific investigators are engaged.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 6, 1918.

According to historical precedent, we may expect freakish experiments in government for the next ten or fifteen years. Political upheavals of world-wide proportions do not subside quickly. For some time before the war was started by Germany there had been industrial unrest in various parts of the world and aside from the regular South American revolutions there had been evidences of upheavals of various sorts. The unrest was principally concerned with the thousands of laboring men between whom and their employers there had been friction of the same kind that has existed since the day in the dark ages when one man began laboring for another. So far as political unrest was concerned, as between one nation and another, subsequent events have proved conclusively that such political matters were fomented by German diplomats and German spies. The friction between capital and labor has so largely subsided that it cannot be considered in any serious light except as regards that branch of industry in which our own Government has sought to take a hand but has failed to act with the degree of stability and firmness which has been exercised in other labor troubles—the shipbuilding industry. In practically every branch of business labor troubles have been adjusted by the laboring men without difficulty because they realized fully the far-reaching importance of the war and their own duty. The men employed in the shipbuilding industry alone—and only part of them—have been treated as wards of the nation and they have taken advantage of their treatment to delay important building operations. They have not been entirely to blame, however, when we consider the tendency of contractors who work on a cost-plus basis. It is impossible to check entirely the rascality of such men, but it is some comfort to know that the history of mankind has demonstrated the futility of attempting to retain ill-gotten gains. Freakish governmental ideas which will be put in practice sooner or later will result in reclamation of some of these gains but that kind of government will add to the burden of the people even more than a government charged with conducting a war.

ARTISTIC FREEDOM.

In the court suit connected with the suppression of Theodore Dreiser's novel, "The Genius," it is rather unexpected to find author and publisher taking opposite sides, the former holding that there is nothing obscene in the book and the latter contending that there is with a view to justify his breach of contract when he withdrew the novel from circulation under threats of criminal prosecution by the Society for the Suppression of Vice. The explanation is that the present suit is brought by the author against the publisher. Favorable newspaper reviews of the book were read in court, which proves nothing because the tired book reviewer usually dips in only here and there. Nor does it mean anything that many prominent writers signed a paper protesting against the agitation for suppression, for the average writer would readily hearken to the argument for "artistic freedom" and sign such a protest without investigation.

According to one man who read the novel from cover to cover, it deserves a much less innocent title, inasmuch as the insatiable "hero" seduces every attractive woman he meets, the author exhibiting a temerity and a "realism" in the matter of detail quite beyond precedent. Moreover, a certain reserve in similar examples of previous centuries, such as Fielding's "Tom Jones," is absent from this unblushing chronicle of promiscuousness in modern American life. That art should be free within reason is a self-evident proposition, but obviously it is desirable that even art should recognize a difference between freedom and license.

FRENCH PRAISE.

Out of a population of 35,000,000 France has mobilized 7,500,000 men. Of these more than a third have been killed, wounded and captured, but 3,000,000 still stand rock-like on the battle front. A nation with such a record is in a position to complain of a much bigger nation later in the fight that is as yet doing so much less. But the French never criticize us and speak only in praise. For example, Captain Tardieu, French High Commissioner, said in a recent address in New York: "By the hundreds of thousands the soldiers of America are now in France, and every week brings to our shores a new stream of khaki-clad boys." Referring to needed supplies shipped to the French, he added: "In every field a complete, thorough and decisive American help is to be found."

In a similar spirit a French officer has just paid a glowing tribute to the American soldier in the Paris Temps, the cabled extracts being in part as follows: "We have seen the American soldiers at work and it should be told and retold that they are marvelous. The Americans are soldiers by nature, and their officers have an enthusiasm and idealistic ardor very remarkable. There is the same spirit among the privates. They ask questions with touching good will, setting aside all conceit or prejudice. Naturally they have the faults of all new troops. They expose themselves imprudently, letting themselves be carried away by their ardor. As for bravery, activity and discipline, they are marvelous. Their artillery will be and already is of the first order. Too much praise can not be given their sanitary automobiles, swift, strong, comfortable, a veritable godsend to us."

A captured letter from a German officer anounces that "we have made up our minds to plunder again ruthlessly." It's news that they ever slowed up, except perhaps for a few days or weeks while the Kaiser was working peace camouflage as a political offensive aimed to strengthen the pacifist arm and retard preparation in America.

School children in one of the poorer neighborhoods of Bercy, a suburb of Paris, have contributed a fund out of which they propose to pay fifty centimes or ten cents a day for two years to the American child first orphaned by battle in France. Such is the gratitude of the French people.

Those 15,000,000 Germans who were depended on in Berlin to keep this country out of the war are mostly buying Liberty Bonds, sending their sons to the training camps, and cursing the Kaiser and his militarists for the infamy they have yoked with the German name.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"How you gettin' on wid youah 'rithatic, Lou?" "Well, I done learned to add up de oughts, but de figgers bodder me."—Boston Transcript.

"Do your constituents agree with you?" "I hadn't thought about that," replied Senator Sorghum. "But I am mighty careful to agree with them."—Washington Star.

Customer—"I want to make a flag for a home regiment. Now, will these colors run?" Salesman—"Madam, that will depend entirely on the regiment's line of action."—Baltimore American.

Stranger (in station)—"Where is the Information Bureau?" Habitue—"Down at the other end. What do you want to know?" Stranger—"Nothing. I am to meet a friend there."—Buffalo Express.

Black—"What did her father advise when you told him you loved his daughter, but only had a hundred dollars saved up?" White—"He advised me to invest it all in a one-way railway ticket with no stop-over!"—Judge.

Not Guilty.

For the first three years of their married life the wife's mother had lived with the young couple. Then one morning, without even stopping to pack, hubby fled.

The young wife rushed upstairs and told the news to her mother. "I suppose some nasty, low woman is responsible for his leaving you," said the latter.

"Yes, mother," said the sorrowing wife, "there was a woman in it."

"Her name!" demanded the good woman palpitating like an enraged motor omnibus.

"You, mother," came the whispered reply."

"Me! Well, I'm sure I never gave him any encouragement."—Exchange.

Particulars Later.

Two Kansas farmers met at the county seat shortly after a cyclone had visited that neighborhood.

"Well, sir," said one of them, "she shook up things out my way, to be sure. By the way, Henry," he added, "did that new barn of yours get hurt any?"

"I can't say," replied the second farmer. "I haven't found it yet."—Everybody's Magazine.

A Preparedness Course.

They were questioning the suburbanite home from the trenches. "And weren't you terrified that night among the barbed wire entanglements?"

"No," he replied. "I have come home late when the wife has left the croquet set out on the lawn."—Judge.

The Modern Cabinet Gas Range Is a Real Aid to Conservation

JUST as the soldier in the field, the home gardener and the purchaser of Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamps are helping America win the war, so is the Modern Cabinet Gas Range enlisted in the ranks of service to its country.

Gas and Cabinet Gas Ranges serve by conserving—conserving fuel—conserving food—conserving time—conserving money.

And in conserving each one of these highly important war-time commodities for you in your own home, Cabinet Gas Ranges are a direct aid in the national conservation program that touches intimately the transportation, industrial and labor problems now before the country.

National Gas Range Week
May 6 -- 11

No selfish motive prompts this company to call to your attention National Gas Range Week, May 6-11. The demand for Gas was never greater than it is today. The cost of manufacturing Gas was never higher than today. Profits in the Gas business today are smaller than ever before.

But we realize how thoroughly Cabinet Gas Ranges aid conservation—that we are in a better position to take upon our shoulders the uncertainties of next winter's fuel problem than is the average householder—that Gas Ranges may be purchased now at prices very much lower than they are bound to be later on.

We therefore ask your co-operation in making National Gas Range Week a success. We ask you to see the newest Ranges, to note their many advantages and the easy terms under which they may be installed in your home.

Arrangements have been completed for the parade and demonstration to be held Saturday morning, May 11, in honor of the fourteen men from Divisions No. 1 and 2 who will leave for Fort Slocum. They will entrain on the West Shore train that leaves Kingston at 9:05 o'clock.

The men will go to Weehawken, from there to New York city via the Forty-second street ferry, then to the Grand Central Terminal, from there to New Rochelle via the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

As upon previous occasions when the conscripts have entrained, practically every fraternal, civic and military organization, business men and employe, Scouts, school children, clergy, professional men and others will march.

The parade will form at ten minutes after eight at Fair and Main streets. Fifteen minutes later the fire alarm will strike five times, which will be the signal to be ready to march. At half past eight the fire alarm will again strike five times, the signal for the parade to start.

On the last occasion that the boys entrained the parade was larger than on other occasions, and it is hoped that the parade this time will be even larger.

The committee hopes that all of the business places and residences be decorated with Old Glory.

Remember the slogan, "Send them away with a smile."

ADMISSION 50c

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, May 6.—The juniors and sophomores of the local high school gave the senior class a very delightful evening in the auditorium on Friday last. It was one of the events of the season. The young people with music, dancing and refreshments, ice cream and cake, enjoyed it with a social intercourse and an evening together long to be remembered, for school days are all too soon over.

The senior class, also the Glee Club of the high school, purchased a $50 Liberty Bond. This will be added to the fund that is being accumulated to equip the stage in the auditorium. Two or three years ago this class of 1918 gave $30 to the same fund.

On Monday evening a mass meeting will be held in the M. E. Church. The speaker of the evening will be George H. Mann, a prominent lawyer of New York, and a member of the American Defense Society. The subject of his address will be "America's Share in the War." This will be one of a series of meetings to be held in Methodist Churches of the local group. Thursday evening there will be a meeting held in the M. E. Church at Grahamsville and the speaker will be James Moffatt of Sloatsburg. A meeting will be held at Kerhonkson Friday evening and Mr. Moffatt will be the speaker.

At the M. E. Sunday school on Sunday the session was entirely given over to a rousing patriotic service under the direction of the superintendent, H. W. Coons. The room was alive to patriotism in its decorations of the large and small American flags with several large and small British flags and the French flags, as also small flags of Italy. The service opened with singing of "America" with Mrs. J. H. Divine at the piano. Prayer, the Rev. Albert E. Lord. Roll call. Chorus, girls of Mrs. Potter's class, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Reading, "America Arise and Fight," Miss Edith Wright. Singing, "Star Spangled Banner." Address, Mr. Coons. Chorus, "Tenting Tonight," class of girls.

In accordance with the custom of past years, Ellenville will have a clean-up week beginning Monday, May 6. The annual spring cleaning has become a national custom in every properly conducted household. The outward appearance of a community be it a city or village, is a reliable index of the character of the citizens. All the village premises will be inspected by the health and fire officials on Saturday, May 11.

Mrs. Raymond Hook will entertain the ladies of the Sewing Circle of the Lutheran Church at her home on Spring street Tuesday afternoon.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Raymond G. Cox on South Market street Thursday afternoon.

A meeting of the canvassing teams for the report of the every member canvass of the Reformed Church, was held Sunday afternoon from two to six. The double envelope system is used and was very successfully carried out the past year. The coming year the official board of the M. E. Church have also decided to use the double envelope system and cards for signing are to be placed in the hands of the members and then the double envelope system is to go foward, and are expected to be returned every week with the weekly contribution for current expenses and benevolences.

Erhardt Scherb of Union Hill, N. JJ., spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scherb, on Canal street.

Perfect Artificial Eyes.

Artificial eyes are much more commonly worn that most people imagine. The average user does not make advertisement of the fact, which may be known only to a few intimate friends, for such eyes nowadays, a product of the glassblower's highest skill, are of a workmanship so artistic as to be perfectly deceptive. When, as is usually the case, the eye is set upon the "root" of the natural organ it moves exactly like a real one.

PROCEEDINGS IN SUPREME COURT

Decision Reserved in Divorce Case—Ellenville Woman Claims She Was Defranded—Father Wants Custody of Daughter.

Justice Hasbrouck, sitting at a special term of supreme court Saturday, reserved decision in the action for divorce brought by Mabel Padgett against William T. Padgett. Harry Cole and Ellsworth Howley of Binghamton testified that in the latter part of 1916 the defendant conducted a cigar store and lived in a room in the rear, and that he was compelled to move by the police. Cole and Howley testified that they saw women in there on different occasions, both day and night. Mr. and Mrs. Padgett were married at Binghamton November 27, 1907. She has not been living with her husband for seven years and with her twin daughters, Mary and Marion, 9 years of age, is living at Prattsville.

Father Wants Custody of Child.

In the matter of Charles D. Feeney against Laura Feeney and Anna Farrell, some testimony was taken and the matter then adjourned until the next special term. This is an action brought by Mr. Feeney to get the custody of his four year old daughter. The couple have not lived together since November, 1916, when Mrs. Feeney went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Farrell, at West New Brighton, S. I., taking her daughter with her. Mr. Feeney said that on several occasions when he went to see his daughter he was denied the privilege. Some time ago Justice Hasbrouck granted a writ of habeas corpus, and Mrs. Farrell was ordered to produce the child in court. Mrs. Farrell was there Saturday but did not bring the child. F. H. Innes, attorney for Mrs. Farrell, stated that she had never had the custody of the child and therefore did not have to produce her in court. Newton H. Fessenden appeared for Mr. Feeney and stated that he should have the custody of his daughter at least part of the year. It is probable that the parties will come to an agreement before the next special term of the court. An action for separation brought some time ago by Mrs. Feeney was dismissed by Justice Clark in Richmond county.

Alleged Fraud Case.

Justice Hasbrouck denied the motion made by David G. Goodwin of New York city, attorney for Robert R. Forrester and David A. Russell, officers and directors of the Alpha Sign Company, Inc., for judgment on the pleadings. Clinton H. Blake of New York city and William D. Brinnier, Sr., attorneys for Helen B. Holman of Ellenville, opposed the motion. Helen B. Holman is suing the defendants for $4,300, which, she alleges, through fraud on the part of the defendants, she invested in the Alpha Sign Company, Inc.

The facts as alleged by the plaintiff are briefly as follows: Defendants represented that the sign company although just organized, was a prosperous one with a glowing future, and the investors would get a twenty per cent divident at the end of the first year. No business was transacted by the company, and later two new corporations were formed, one in Delaware, and known as "The Removable Letter Sign Corporation," and the other in New York, and known as "Removable Letter Sign Corporation."

Upon the request of the defendants the plaintiff surrendered her stock in the old old sign company and received in exchange stock in the new corporation organized in Delaware. Plaintiff alleges that the new corporation carried fictitious assets on its books, had not sufficient capital, and was unable to borrow money to finance its business. Defendants make a general denial and moved for judgments on the pleadings. Denied with costs.

First Balloon Ascension.

The first balloon ascension is said to have been made by Pere Berthold Guzman, a Portuguese priest, in 1720—or 60 years before Mongolfier.

New Vapor Way of Treating all Cold Troubles

North Carolina Druggist Invents a Salve That is Vaporized by the Body Heat.

NOTHING TO SWALLOW YOU JUST RUB IT ON

Particularly Valuable to Mothers With Small Children. Local Druggists are Offering 25c Jars on 30 Days' Trial.

Colds are simply inflammations of the air passages and everybody knows that the only way to reach the air passages direct is by means of vapors that can be inhaled. The old fashioned vapor treatments, however, were cumbersome and costly, but a North Carolina druggist solved this problem by inventing a salve that is vaporized by the body heat.

This preparation, known as Vick's VapoRub, is now being introduced here. The local druggists know the danger of constant "dosing," especially to small children, and are anxious that their customers should try this new "outside" treatment. Arrangements have accordingly been made with the manufacturers to sell the small size jars, price 25c, on 30 days' trial—no charge to be made if the customer is not delighted with the results.

For deep chest colds, sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis or incipient pneumonia VapoRub should be applied over the throat and chest and covered with a warm flannel cloth. The vapors arising carry the medication, with each breath, to the air passages and lungs. In addition VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest.

For head colds, hay fever, catarrh or asthmatic troubles VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled. Croup is usually relieved within fifteen minutes and one application at bedtime prevents a night attack.—Advertisement.

The Eager Life.

Whenever a process of life communicates an eagerness to him who lives it there the life becomes genuinely significant. Sometimes the eagerness is more knit up with the motor activities, sometimes with the perceptions, sometimes with the imagination, sometimes with reflective thought. But, wherever it is found, there is the zest, the tingle, the excitement of reality; and there is "importance" in the only real and positive sense in which importance ever anywhere can be.—William Jones.

A HOMEMADE FIRELESS COOKER

Requirements.

Butter tub, candy bucket, wooden box, trunk, galvanized ash can or any other similar receptacle that can be fitted with strong hinges and fastenings.

Sheet asbestos one-eight inch thick.

Ground cork.

A deep bucket or kettle of agate, galvanized iron or tin with tight fitting cover, small enough to permit space of at least three inches between the case and the top, bottom and sides of the bucket.

A kettle or bucket of agate or aluminum with a tight-fitting cover that can be clamped down. This must be small enough to fit in first agate bucket. Seamless alumium is most commonly used. Special fireless-cooker utensils can generally be obtained from a local hardware dealer or a firm that manufactures fireless-cookers.

Heavy muslin, drilling or denim for cushion.

A soapstone, slightly smaller than the bottom of the larger kettle. Heavy wrapping paper, cardboard, shellac.

Line the case or tub and its cover with the wrapping paper, allowing the paper to extend 3 or 4 inches above the receptacle. Cover the outside of the graniteware kettle with the asbestos. Pack the bottom of the case tightly with ground cork 3 or 4 inches deep. Set the kettle in this and pack the space between the kettle and the sides of the case with the cork. Cut cardboard to fit over the space between the tub and the pail, paste wrapping paper over cardboard. Turn the wrapping paper which extends over the top of the tub down to the height of the tub, tack around the edges and shellac.

Make a cushion, cutting two pieces of muslin the size of the cover of the tub and joining the sides with a three-inch wide strip of the material. Fill this with the cork.

Put the soapstone in the kettle and the food receptacle on the soapstone.

Fireless Cooker Cereal Dishes.

Turkish Pilau.

½ cup rice, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons green pepper or onion, chopped, 1¼ cup stock or water, 1 cup tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt.

Wash the rice. If the pepper is used, discard the seeds. If fresh tomatoes are used, remove the skins, and cut the tomatoes in pieces before measuring them. Place all the ingredients together in the food container, bring the mixture to the boiling point and transfer the kettle to the fireless cooker. Allow it to remain in the cooker for 1 hour. Stir the pilau lightly with a fork before serving it.

Hominy Grits.

5 cups water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup hominy grits. Pick over and wash hominy grits. Have the salted water boiling and add the hominy slowly so as not to stop the boiling. Continue to boil rapidly for 10 minutes over the fire, then put the vessel into the cooker as quickly as possible and allow it to remain (over night) for about 12 hours. The vessel of hominy may be placed in another vessel of boiling water before being placed in the cooker.

Samp (Coarse Hominy).

One-half cup samp soaked in 1 cup cold water 6 hours. Add 1½ teaspoons salt and 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly 45 minutes. Put into cooker for 8 to 12 hours.

Oatmeal.

Three cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup oatmeal. Carefully look over the oatmeal and remove any husks or foreign substance. Add gradually to the boiling salted water and boil rapidly for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Now it may be put into the cooker. After 2 or 3 hours it is soft, but a better flavor will be developed by longer cooking. It may remain in the cooker overnight in the same manner as the hominy grits are cooked (about 12 hours). Next morning it may have to be reheated. To do this, set the cooker pan in a pan of water over the fire. When the water boils up well, the oatmeal may be served.

Plain Rice.

One cup rice, 3 cups water, 1½ teaspoon salt. Look over and wash the rice thoroughly through several waters, until cloudiness is removed. Bring the salted water to a boil, ½ teaspoon lard may be added. Then add the rice gradually to the boiling water and allow it to boil 5 minutes before putting it into the cooker for 45 minutes or an hour.

AUXILIARY ADOPTS NEW PLAN FOR FUNDS

Supplies for Kingston City Hospital Must be Purchased so Ladies' Auxiliary Makes Appeal.

A simple plan to raise money needed for supplies has been adopted by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Kingston City Hospital.

There have already been two charity balls in Kingston this year, both splendidly patronized and successfully carried out, so that it would hardly be good policy to hold another dance so soon.

An entertainment for the raising of money means the giving of a great deal of time by the women who are busy with Red Cros work, which must not for a moment be neglected. And yet the city hospital should not be allowed to want for linen, blankets, pillows, nightrobes and garments for the wards.

These things have been supplied for years by the auxiliary of the hospital. The organization has no income other than the annual dues of members and the occasional entertainments given for its benefit.

The opera "Mikado" put on in 1911 was the last benefit given for the auxiliary, and it is from the proceeds of that opera that the women have kept the hospital supplied for the last seven years. The more recent entertainments, "Flag Ball" and "Butterfly Ball" were for the building fund of the hospital and not a dollar of that money was used for anything but that fund.

So much for the past. What now for the future? The hospital must be kept supplied with everything that such an institution needs. Hundreds of people in this city are interested enough in the hospital to buy tickets for any entertainment the women of the auxiliary might arrange. Many would be patrons and buy five tickets. A few, in case of such a brilliant function as the "Butterfly Ball" would buy a box for $25.

The members of the auxiliary are asking such people to give to the fund they have pledged themselves to raise. One thousand dollars is the amount desired, a small sum indeed divided among the many people who are proud of the splendidly equipped building which the city now boasts of.

You, who are reading this, if there were to be another hospital ball, would you not buy tickets? Then send in the price of two. Would you be a patron? Then send five dollars. Could you afford to buy a box to see Lada dance? Then dream of the time you saw her and send $25 to help your city hospital.

The auxiliary is not asking for large donations, but they ask the friends of the hospital to give their support by coming in voluntarily to aid in raising this fund.

The money may be given to any member, or sent to any one of the officers. Checks should be made out to the treasurer.

ACCORD.

Accord, May 6.—Let us not refrain from lending our money to the government simply because the third Liberty Loan campaign has closed. Accord, in common with all other money order post offices, has an ample supply of war savings and thrift stamps on hand to accommodate those who did not see their way clear to purchase a bond. However, owning a bond is no reason for not purchasing the war savings stamps as the latter are also a good investment since they pay 4 per cent compound interest. The price of these stamps for May is $4.16 each.

Mr. Palmer, the new station agent, is busy moving his family into the rooms vacated by Mr. Stratton.

Arbor Day was observed at the local school by improving the appearance of the school grounds and the planting of a tree.

Mrs. Hilah M. Mowris quietly observed her 93rd birthday Friday. She is enjoying excellent health for such an advanced age and still does her own housework. We extend our heartiest congratulations and trust that the afternoon of her beautiful life will be so lengthened that she may be enabled to enjoy many more such happy occasions.

Dr. Pearl of Rosendale was called to attend B. Knickel Friday.

Clean-Up Week Begins Today.

In a letter to mayors, village presidents and boards of health, Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, Commissioner of Health, designates the week beginning May 6 as Clean-Up Week.

Calling attention to the fact that Clean-Up Week is now a national custom and suggesting the necessity from a sanitary standpoint of properly disposing of rubbish, manure, garbage and other filth that has accumulated during the winter, Dr. Biggs observes that the outward appearance of a community is usually a reliable index of the character of its citizens, and emphasizes the fact that where insanitary conditions are allowed to exist, there is sure to be found an unprogressive people presided over by incompetent or ignorant officials.

If for no other reason than from a patriotic standpoint, Dr. Biggs urges that a special effort be made this year in order that the men who have left to defend their country may find home conditions better, cleaner and healthier on their return.

Attached to the letter are a number of helpful suggestions for organizing co-operative community clean-up work.

A Fine Musical Service.

The large auditorium of the St. James Methodist Church was filled Sunday night by an enthusiastic audience. The musi rendered by the new quartet was of a high order yet was popular in its character. Mr. LaTour's rendering of "Gloria," by Buzzi-Peccai, was especially fine, but the pieces most enjoyd by the large congregation were patriotic, such as "America the Beautiful," sung by the quartet, and the "Liberty Anthem," by French, which was sung twice, by the quartet first, and then by the quartet and congregation. Dr. Baragwanath never spoke plainer than last night when he compared the ideals of the Kaiser and the junker party with those of the Man of Nazareth. Evidently the people like to hear such plain talks if one can judge by the audience. Next Sunday night the topic will be, "The Will to Victory." America needs to realize that we are really at war, and the churches must do their part in crystalizing public sentiment.

Better Than a Fish Story.

This narrative comes from Nairobi, in British East Africa. A hunter met a most magnificent lion almost face to face. With a terrible roar the beast sprang at the man but missed his aim by jumping two feet too high. Disappointed, it dashed away into the woods. The next day a party set out to track the beast down. At length they came upon it in an open space in the jungle. The beast was practicing low jumps.

ENROLLMENT SHOWS NEW YORK LEADS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 6.—New York state leads all other states in the recent enrollment for the United States shipyard volunteers. The total number enrolled from the state was 31,830. Illinois was second with 29,000; Massachusetts third with 27,119. The men will be called to service in the shipyards as soon as places can be found for them. A number of the largest yards are nearing completion and larger numbers of men will be needed week by week.

The success of the enrollment in this state is regarded by officials here as amazing. Tabulations by the National Counsel of Defense show that one-fourth of the total number of war contracts that have been let so far, are held by New York state firms.

RED CROSS RALLY TUESDAY, MAY 14TH

As soon as the committees in charge of the drive have been formed the names of the chairman and the various committees will be published in The Freeman.

REPORT OF WORK OF THE BOY SCOUTS

The following report of the work of the Boy Scouts of this city during the Third Liberty Loan just closed, wherin, under heavy handicap, with only stray gleanings to be gathered in, the boys of our city, with some valued assistance from the Girl Scouts and from the Accord Troop, shows plainly whether or no the Scout movement in a community pays. $58,750 worth of bonds were sold by the Scouts, and is there a man or woman in this community who dares to say that this work has not been of infinitely greater benefit to the boys—and girls, though their need was not so great—than for them to have been loafing about after school hours with no such objective in view? Furthermore, they have been of as actual use to their goernment at this time as can any man in camp or overseas be, for the men must be provided with those things which this money will buy.

The report as turned in by Scout Executive Soles is as follows:

Troop 1—Third Loan, 55 bonds, $5,850; Second Loan, 144 bonds, $11,250.

Troop 4—Third Loan, 43 bonds, $3,400; Second Loan, 167 bonds, $17,750.

Troop 5—Third Loan, 211 bonds, $20,850; Second Loan, 254 bonds, $20,750.

Troop 6—Third Loan, 138 bonds, $15,150; Second Loan, 133 bonds, $12,650.

Accord—Third Loan, 51 bonds, $10,550.

Girl Scouts—Third Loan, 18 bonds, 2,950.

Total, Third Loan, 516 bonds, $58,750.

Order of merit for troops: Troop 5; Troop 6; Accord; Troop 1; Troop 4; Girl Scouts.

The following Scouts sold over 10 bonds each:

Troop 1—Joe Forman, 11 bonds, $3,050*; Robert Gumaer, 10 bonds, $500; Harry Schryver, 22 bonds, $1,250*.

Troop 4—John Connelly, 18 bonds, $1,450*.

Troop 5—Vernon Beehler, 10 bonds, $1,500*; Reynolds Carr, 10 bonds, $1,450; Jack DeWitt, 72 bonds, $7,000; David Rightmyer, 11 bonds, $800*; Randall Rose, 50 bonds, $3,200*; Westbrook Stelle, 10 bonds, $2,500; Stanley Trow, 11 bonds, $950*.

Th re gular meeting of Kingston Chapter, No. 155, O. E. S., was held at the rooms Friday evening and was one of the most delightful in the history of the chapter. The guests of honor were the grand officers who paid their official visit to the chapter. Right Worthy Bertie C. Ford, D. D. G. M., and Right Worthy C. H. Vedder, A. G. L. of the Eleventh Eastern Star District, were the visiting officers. Long before the appointed hour the members of the chapter had gathered at the rooms to welcome the grand officers. During the evening Star degrees were conferred on two candidates. The rooms were artistically decorated with the national colors and dotted here and there with spring flowers, cut flowers and palms. Twelve young ladies carrying American beauty roses formed an arch through which the guests were escorted. Worthy Matron Nellie C. Klothe made an eloquent address, taking as her subject "A Tribute to the Rose," and winding smilax around the huge bouquet of roses she presented them to Sister Ford in a few well chosen words. The gift from the chapter was a handsome cut glass vase to the deputy and to the A. G. lecturer gold cuff buttons. During the evening a fine musical program was rendered by Mrs. Morris, who has a fine contralto voice. Following the program a banquet was served. The entire evening's program was one that will linger long in the memory of those present.

Wrap Tools in Cloth.

It is an admirable idea to wrap good tools, such as drills, wrenches, etc., in oiled cloths before stowing them away in the tool compartment. The oiled cloths prevent the implements from becoming rusty, which is quite likely to happen in the course of a strenuous season's running.

HOUSE PLAN FOR MILITARY SERVICE

Proposed Legislation May Require Universal Training for Young Men In Their Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first years.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 6.—Universal military service legislation as a rider on the $15,000,000,000 army appropriation bill will be proposed when the measure comes up for action in the House next week, it was learned this afternoon.

An amendment drawn by Republican representatives provides that every American boy shall spend a total of twelve months in a military camp, receiving physical and tactical training, before he reaches his majority. Three months of training would be given in the nineteenth, and three in the twentieth year, with six months' training in the twenty-first year.

Under this form of compulsory service, advocates of the plan said today the United States would have 10,000,000 men, trained and ready to be called into active service in any emergency at the end of ten years.

CAN TAKE WAR STEPS "WITHOUT LIMIT"

United States Supreme Court in Sweeping Decision Upholds Right of Congress to Send Soldiers Abroad to Fight.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 6.—In a sweeping decision upholding the right of congress to take steps, "without limit" in prosecuting a war, the supreme court today overruled the appeal that under the selective draft law a man could not be forced to go abroad to fight. The attempt to have General Leonard Wood cited in contempt of court for sending Robert Cox abroad while his appeal in this case was pending, was automatically lost.

Chief Justice White, in handing down the decision, said the whole question of the power of congress over the army had been foreclosed by the decision in the selctive draft case. The power, he pointed out, was granted to congress in the constitution in the power to declare war and to raise armies, and this power knew no limit. It was not based on the militia sections of the constitution, he said but on the contrary the milita section was a mere part of the war power.

The government had requested that certain paragraphs of the brief of the counsel for Cox be stricken from the record, contending that they were scandalous. This view was shared by the court, but Justice White asserted the belief that it would be better to leave them in the record. He said he did not think they would be provocative of similar contentions, but rather the reverse.

Drys May Ask Extra Session.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 6.—Prohibitionists are conferring here this afternoon. They will determine whether it is advisable to demand that Governor Whitman call an extra session of the legislature to again consider ratification of the federal prohibition amendment. The meeting is in executive session. Temperance representatives of organizations all through the state are in attendance. There is known to be a division of sentiment among the "dry" forces on the extra session proposal.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 6—Generals gains all through the list marked the opening of the stock market today. Steel Common quickly rose to above 98 against 97½ at the close on Saturday. Union Pacific rose ¾ to 119½; Marine Preferred ¾ to 88, and Distillers Securities ¾ to 52⅞ with other issues generally following these leaders in the various groups. Specialties were also active and strong with a good deal of interest attached to the trading in American Cotton Oil which rose ¾ to 38⅛. Reading was actively traded in, advancing ¾ to 80⅝. Anaconda moved up ⅜ to 64⅞.

The feature of the trading during the forenoon was the vigorous buying of Steel Common, sales of that stock being more than one-third of the total sales. The stock reached 99½, a new high record for the year. Substantial gains were made in nearly all the active issues. Marine Preferred moved up 1½ to 88¾, and Bethlehem Steel B sold 1⅛ higher at 80⅝. Reading moved up one point to 80⅞, and Republic Iron and Steel gained 1⅝ to 84⅝. Union Pacific was 1⅛ higher at 119⅞, and Distillers moved up to 52⅞, a new high record on this movement. Gains ranged from fractions to over one point in many specialties.

Trading in Steel Common continued on a large scale during the afternoon with the price advancing to 99½. Bethlehem Steel B moved up to 81¼, and Crucible rose to 66. Railroads were also in good demand at advancing prices.

The market closed strong today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

COULD NOT FORGET ALICE

Man Before War Exemption Board at Least Proved He Was Loyal to His Lady Love.

He was a plump little man and he was smoking a very large cigar and with his unoccupied hand he caressed a faint blonde mustache at odd moments. He seemed to be thinking of other things than the matter in hand. He explained he was working in a factory that made ammunition and was, therefore, more important at home than abroad. The exemption board seemed to take that view of it and was about to say so, when one member looked up and saw the applicant gazing out the window with a look of awed delight that was wonderful to behold. The board member followed his gaze, but saw nothing more interesting than a fat sparrow swinging on a telephone wire. He looked back. The applicant was fast going into an ecstatic trance.

"What is the name of your immediate superior?" asked the board member softly.

"Alice," said the applicant softly. And five minutes later when, a brick red as to face, he stood in the hall awaiting the elevator and a chance acquaintance dared the inquiry: "Who is Alice?" he grinned. "We are going to be married next week. Wasn't that a h—— of a thing to say in there. Oh, boy."

And, still blushing, but also still smiling, he departed.

Forest Skyscrapers.

The tallest of California's "big trees" is 325 feet in height, but among the great gum trees of Australia many specimens are more than 400 feet in height, and one, which was felled in southeast Australia, measured 471 feet—the tallest tree on record. Gum trees grow very rapidly.—Popular Science Monthly.

TO ARRANGE FOR MEMORIAL DAY

The fiftieth annual celebration of Memorial Day will be observed on May 30th next.

Pratt Post, Grand Army of the Republic, hereby invites all our good citizens and patriotic associations to meet with them on the evening of Wednesday, May 8, at 8 o'clock, at the office of Prof. Michael in the high school building for the purpose of making such arrangements as may be thought best to fitly express the spirit of the day.

Commander Pratt Post, G. A. R.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Camp Fire Girls Dance.

The Camp Fire Girls and their friends, of Flatbush, will give an entertainment in the T. X. T. Club House Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Camp Fire Girls' War Chest and Red Cross work. Dancing will follow the entertainment. Refreshments will be served.

Fitzgerald-Kuehn.

Miss Selma Josephine Kuehn of this city and John Michael Fitzgerald of Camp Dix were quietly married Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of the Church of the Holy Spirit by the pastor, the Rev John J. Bott. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald have the well wishes of a host of friends in this city.

Lucaszkie-Cybolski.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Immaculate Conception Church Sunday afternoon at 3:15 when Miss Lena Cybolski, daughter of Mrs. George Cybolski, and Walter Lucaszkie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucaszkie, were united in marriage by the Rev. F. Liesniewski. The bride wore a handsome gown in white satin and carried a bouquet of white bride roses. Her sister, Martha, was her only attendant; she wore a dress of blue crepe de chine and carried pink carnations. Joseph Lucaszkie, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. The house was decorated with cherry blossoms, and all the guests wished the young couple a long and happy life. Mr. and Mrs. Lucaszkie will make their home at 88 Newkirk avenue.

The Coterie.

The last of this season's meetings of the Coterie was held at the home of Mrs. Patchen on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Watts had the first paper of the day, her topic, admirably handled, being, "The Literature of Colonial and Revolutionary Periods," wherein she quoted from letters of Columbus and other early explorers and settlers. From that period the subject was brought down to the present time, different authors and their styles of writing being noted interestingly. The second paper on "The Modernista Movement," as given by Miss Isabel Thompson, showed careful study and presented the new style of South American literature with all of its detailed descriptive and flowery forms, very attractively.

Mrs. Weyant also gave a paper, delayed in its reading, on "The Mission of the Pan-American Union," in which she gave an admirable account of the work and aims of the union and of its beautiful quarters in the new building in Washington, D. C.

Miss Deudney, chairman of the program committee, then presented an outline of the subject for study next year, "The Great War and Some of its Submerged Backgrounds," and the members present chose their individual paper subjects. The afternoon closed with a delightful social hour.

"Experience" is Here.

The long awaited and much discussed morality play "Experience" comes to the Kingston Opera House tonight and continues for a brief engagement of two additional evenings and a matinee on Wednesday. "Experience" is up to date and deals with up to date conditions, and while it is written in the form of an allegory and follows closely the form of the old-fashioned morality plays of four centuries ago, it is none the less realistic and vivid.

The First Clock.

When two savages agreed to meet at a certain dead tree at sunrise the first clock was wound. Our historical dates and our railway schedules are little more than that primitive agreement to meet at the dead tree at sunrise. There are plenty of sunrises and plenty of dead trees. Time is the choosing of a particular sunrise and a particular dead tree the convenience of human arra ents.

BALFOUR DENIES PEACE OFFER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 6.—No peace offer has been recently nor is there any neutral representative here who made tentative and informal suggestions for peace negotiations. Foreign Secretary Balfour announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Replying further on the subject to questions put by Philip Snowden, Mr. Balfour said he thought the whole thing was a "mare's nest."

Mr. Snowden called attention to advices from The Hague detailing peace proposals and asked Mr. Balfour if he had read them.

The foreign secretary repeated that he thought it all a "mare's nest."

ODDS AND ENDS.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church will serve a shad dinner in the lecture room of the church Wednesday evening, May 15, from 5 to 8 o'clock.

The King's Daughters of the Clinton Avenue Church, will hold a social Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Moate, 76 Grand street. Please bring thimbles.

The Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church will meet at the home of Mrs. David Terry on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The program will be given by Mrs. E. Coughlin and Mrs. P. C. Weyant. A large attendance is desired.

The ladies who are doing Red Cross sewing under the direction of Mrs Hayes will meet this evening as usual in Red Cross Headquarters. Many more workers are needed and any women having an hour to spare this evening is urged to meet with the class.

EVILS IN TRAIN OF WAR

English Men of Prominence Look With Disfavor on the Free Mingling of the Sexes.

English physicians and psychologists have noted the great danger to women's morals in donning masculine clothing and giving themselves too much license.

"The woman war worker in male attire and the amateur war nurse are deserving careful attention by the medical profession," writes Dr. James Burnett, M. A., M. D., M. R. C. P., in the Medical Press.

"I see two net results of the war in this connection—a greatly lowered standard of morality and increased vice diseases. War has certainly slackened our moral tone. The free mingling of the sexes has not had altogether a beneficial effect on the morality of the country.

"Skirts are worn shorter than ever before. In fact, some women seem to me to vie with each other as to who can wear the fewest clothes. Cigarette smoking and drinking have become common. It is a usual sight to see women smoking and drinking at tables in public."

Russian Red Cross.

The Russian Red Cross is an enormous organization, more or less bureaucratic in its administration, formerly supported by the royal family, and now receiving aid from the government; not like our Red Cross, supported by contributions, of the whole people. Its vast storehouses are stocked with supplies far beyond anything we have in America. They have utilized their factories for the manufacture of cotton goods, and in one storehouse in Petrograd we found 50,000,000 meters of gauze. They had 5,000,000 suits of underwear for their soldiers. They run their hospitals quite as well as the sanitary department of the army. In the winter palace were 500 beds of a Red Cross hospital, its lofty ceilings and big rooms splendidly ventilated and splendidly administered. One could not help but think that this was the best use to which the winter palace ever had been put.—Cartoons Magazine.

KINGSTON N Y, MAY 6, 1918

According to historical precedent, we may expect freakish experiments in government for the next ten or fifteen years. Political upheavals of world-wide proportions do not subside quickly. For some time before the war was started by Germany there had been industrial unrest in various parts of the world and aside from the regular South American revolutions there had been evidences of upheavals of various sorts. The unrest was principally concerned with the thousands of laboring men between whom and their employers there had been friction of the same kind that has existed since the day in the dark ages when one man began laboring for another. So far as political unrest was concerned as between one nation and another subsequent events have proved conclusively that such political matters were fomented by German diplomats and German spies. The friction between capital and labor has so largely subsided that it cannot be considered in any serious light except as regards that branch of industry in which our own Government has sought to take a hand but has failed to act with the degree of stability and firmness which has been exercised in other labor troubles—the shipbuilding industry. In practically every branch of business labor troubles have been adjusted by the laboring men without difficulty because they realized fully the far-reaching importance of the war and their own duty. The men employed in the shipbuilding industry alone—and only part of them—have been treated as wards of the nation and they have taken advantage of their treatment to delay important building operations. They have not been entirely to blame, however, when we consider the tendency of contractors who work on a cost-plus basis. It is impossible to check entirely the rascality of such men, but it is some comfort to know that the history of mankind has demonstrated the futility of attempting to retain ill-gotten gains. Freakish governmental ideas which will be put in practice sooner or later will result in reclamation of some of these gains, but that kind of government will add to the burden of the people even more than a government charged with conducting a war.

ARTISTIC FREEDOM.

In the court suit connected with the suppression of Theodore Dreiser's novel, "The Genius," it is rather unexpected to find author and publisher taking opposite sides, the former holding that there is nothing obscene in the book and the latter contending that there is with a view to justify his breach of contract when he withdrew the novel from circulation under threats of criminal prosecution by the Society for the Suppression of Vice. The explanation is that the present suit is brought by the author against the publisher. Favorable newspaper reviews of the book were read in court, which proves nothing because the hired book reviewer usually dips in only here and there. Nor does it mean anything that many prominent writers signed a paper protesting against the agitation for suppression, for the average writer would readily hearken to the argument for "artistic freedom" and sign such a protest without investigation.

According to one man who read the novel from cover to cover, it deserves a much less innocent title, inasmuch as the insatiable "hero" seduces every attractive woman he meets, the author exhibiting a temerity and a "realism" in the matter of detail quite beyond precedent. Moreover, a certain reserve in similar examples of previous centuries such as Fielding's "Tom Jones" is absent from this unblushing chronicle of promiscuousness in modern American life. That art should be free within reason is a self-evident proposition, but obviously it is desirable that even art should recognize a difference between freedom and license.

FRENCH PRAISE.

Out of a population of 35,000,000 France has mobilized 7,500,000 men. Of these more than a third have been killed, wounded and captured, but 3,000,000 still stand rock-like on the battle front. A nation with such a record is in a position to complain of a much bigger nation later in the fight that is as yet doing so much less.

But the French never criticize us and speak only in praise. For example, Captain Tardieu, French High Commissioner, said in a recent address in New York: "By the hundreds of thousands the soldiers of America are now in France, and every week brings to our shores a new stream of khaki-clad boys." Referring to needed supplies shipped to the French, he added: "In every field a complete, thorough and decisive American help is to be found."

In a similar spirit a French officer has just paid a glowing tribute to the American soldier in the Paris Temps, the cabled extracts being in part as follows: "We have seen the American soldiers at work and it should be told and retold that they are marvelous. The Americans are soldiers by nature, and their officers have an enthusiasm and idealistic ardor very remarkable. There is the same spirit among the privates. They ask questions with touching good will, setting aside all conceit or prejudice. Naturally they have the faults of all new troops. They expose themselves imprudently, letting themselves be carried away by their ardor. As for bravery, activity and discipline, they are marvelous. Their artillery will be and already is of the first order. Too much praise can not be given their sanitary automobiles, swift, strong, comfortable, a veritable godsend to us."

A captured letter from a German officer announces that "we have made up our minds to plunder again ruthlessly." It's news that they ever slowed up, except perhaps for a few days or weeks while the Kaiser was working peace camouflage as a political offensive aimed to strengthen the pacifist arm and retard preparation in America.

School children in one of the poorer neighborhoods of Bercy, a suburb of Paris, have contributed a fund out of which they propose to pay fifty centimes or ten cents a day for two years to the American child first orphaned by battle in France. Such is the gratitude of the French people.

Those 15,000,000 Germans who were depended on in Berlin to keep this country out of the war are mostly buying Liberty Bonds, sending their sons to the training camps, and cursing the Kaiser and his militarists for the infamy they have yoked with the German name.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"How you gettin' on wid youah rithatic, Lou?" "Well, I done learned to add up de oughts, but de figgers bodder me."—Boston Transcript.

"Do your constituents agree with you?" "I hadn't thought about that," replied Senator Sorghum. "But I am mighty careful to agree with them."—Washington Star.

Customer—"I want to make a flag for a home regiment. Now will these colors run?" Salesman—"Madam, that will depend entirely on the regiment's line of action"—Baltimore American.

Stranger (in station)—"Where is the Information Bureau?" Habitue—"Down at the other end. What do you want to know?" Stranger—"Nothing. I am to meet a friend there."—Buffalo Express.

Black—"What did her father advise when you told him you loved his daughter but only had a hundred dollars saved up?" White—"He advised me to invest it all in a one-way railway ticket with no stop-over'"—Judge.

Not Guilty.

For the first three years of their married life the wife's mother had lived with the young couple. Then one morning, without even stopping to pack, hubby fled.

The young wife rushed upstairs and told the news to her mother. "I suppose some nasty, low woman is responsible for his leaving you," said the latter.

"Yes, mother," said the sorrowing wife, "there was a woman in it."

"Her name!" demanded the good woman palpitating like an enraged motor omnibus.

"You, mother," came the whispered reply.

"Me! Well, I'm sure I never gave him any encouragement"—Exchange.

Particulars Later.

Two Kansas farmers met at the county seat shortly after a cyclone had visited that neighborhood.

"Well, sir," said one of them, "she shook up things out my way, to be sure. By the way, Henry," he added, "did that new barn of yours get hurt any?"

"I can't say," replied the second farmer. "I haven't found it yet."—Everybody's Magazine.

A Preparedness Course.

They were questioning the suburbanite home from the trenches. "And weren't you terrified that night among the barbed wire entanglements?"

"No," he replied. "I have come home late when the wife has left the croquet set out on the lawn."—Judge.

National Gas Range Week May 6th to 11th

The Modern Cabinet Gas Range Is a Real Aid to Conservation

JUST as the soldier in the field, the home gardener and the purchaser of Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamps are helping America win the war, so is the Modern Cabinet Gas Range enlisted in the ranks of service to its country.

Gas and Cabinet Gas Ranges serve by conserving—conserving fuel—conserving food—conserving time—conserving money.

And in conserving each one of these highly important war-time commodities for you in your own home, Cabinet Gas Ranges are a direct aid in the national conservation program that touches intimately the transportation, industrial and labor problems now before the country.

May 6 -- 11

No selfish motive prompts this company to call to your attention National Gas Range Week, May 6-11. The demand for Gas was never greater than it is today. The cost of manufacturing Gas was never higher than today. Profits in the Gas business today are smaller than ever before. But we realize how thoroughly Cabinet Gas Ranges aid conservation—that we are in a better position to take upon our shoulders the uncertainties of next winter's fuel problem than is the average householder—that Gas Ranges may be purchased now at prices very much lower than they are bound to be later on.

We therefore ask your co-operation in making National Gas Range Week a success. We ask you to see the newest Ranges, to note their many advantages and the easy terms under which they may be installed in your home.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR SHAD FISHING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 6.—All shad nets in the Hudson river must hereafter be taken up between sundown on Fridays and sunrise on Mondays, in accordance with an order issued by Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt, for the purpose of giving the fast diminishing shad more opportunity to run up the Hudson river for spawning.

The order states that "during the shad season, from March 15 to June 15, both dates inclusive, no nets, except fyke nets and minnow nets used for taking bait, shall be set, placed, drawn or allowed to remain in the waters of the Hudson river from below the dam at Troy, between sunset on Friday and sunrise on the following Monday."

In addition to this order granting the shad a "safe conduct" each weekend, the Conservation Commission is regulating the netting privileges during the rest of the week. Hereafter, all persons who wish to catch shad in any part of the Hudson river must provide themselves with a license issued by the commission.

These steps have been taken by the Conservation Commission under the new powers vested in it by a law passed at the last session of the legislature extending the jurisdiction of the commission over the lower waters of the Hudson. Previously the commission's authority ended at VerPlanck's Point, near Peekskill.

Commissioner Pratt has lost no time in coming to the assistance of the shad, which is the most important food fish in the new waters under his control. Statistics in the office of the commission show alarming decrease in the quantity of shad taken during recent years in the Hudson river north of VerPlanck's Point, which is the spawning ground of the fish. In 1913 the catch was 87,115 lbs.; in 1914, 69,072 lbs.; in 1915, 34,209 lbs., and in 1916, 25,206 lbs. Although the official catch for 1917 has not yet been reported, the Conservation Commission was unable to collect sufficient spawn to supply even one hatchery at Linlithgo.

Commissioner Pratt feels that under the methods of promiscuous and uninterrupted netting hitherto practiced in the lower Hudson, there is little chance for the shad to succeed in making its way up the stream to spawn. It is believed that the shad seeks the river in which it was born, and the restocking of the Hudson by natural methods is therefore dependent upon such shad as can manage to nose their way successfully up the river.

DR. MATTHEWS'S LECTURE.

Has Been Close to Real Conflict and Knows Her Subject.

Dr. Matthews, who will speak at the Kingston High School on Wednesday night under the auspices of the Woman's Branch of Home Defense, has a thrilling story to tell of her experience at the front. Few women have had the same opportunity as she to be so close to the real conflict and it is a story of compelling interest as she tells it. The lecture is for every one and it is hoped that a large audience will greet Dr. Matthews at the high school on next Wednesday night.

WILL BECOME DEAN OF PRO-CATHEDRAL

At a special meeting of the vestry of St. John's Episcopal Church, this city, held last week, the rector, the Rev. J. I. Blair Larned, presented this open letter to the members of the vestry, in resigning his position as rector of St. John's in order to accept the call to become dean of the Pro-Catherdral Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem, Penn.:

To The Vestry of St. John's Church,
Gentlemen:

Two weeks ago, as you know, I received a call to become dean of the Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem, Penn. It is needless to say that the call came as a complete surprise to me. I have been with you for so short a time and the opportunities for larger usefulness were opening up in so many directions that the thought of entering any new field of work never entered my mind. I have, therefore given this question most deep and prayerful consideration. I have thoroughly investigated the new field and have discussed the question in all its phases with the bishops of New York.

The decision I have reached has resulted largely from two considerations. First, the magnitude of the opportunities for service in Bethlehem, with the work at Lehigh University, the missionary work of that end of the diocese of Bethlehem, and the conducting of one mission church and the erection of another entirely in the hands of the cathedral staff. Secondly, the fact that three years' study of engineering at the Massachusette Institute of Technology should afford an unusual point of contact with the employes of the Bethlehem Steel Company, which at the present time comprises about thirty-five thousand men. Few parishes in the country are so closely connected with a great manufacturing and engineering industry.

I appreciate more than I can express, the cordial and enthusiastic support you have at all times rendered me. I regret exceedingly the necessary severance of ties and relationships which (even in so short a time) have come to mean much to me, and which this decision must largely bring to an end. Some one has recently said, "The times are coming when the right to live on this earth, to say nothing of the right to fill posts of honor, will be measured by our readiness to render deeds of service to our fellowmen." Judged therefore, by this test, "Willingness to serve," and "opportunities for service," I feel that I must ask you to accept my resignation as rector of St. John's Church, to take effect June first. If you will but render to my successor the same whole-hearted support which you have so graciously extended to me, the future increased usefulness of St. John's, which must always remain dear to me, will be assured.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) J. I. BLAIR LARNED.

At the morning service at St. John's Church, Mr. Larned expressed practically the same thoughts and feelings and future plans to the congregation, enlarging upon the mission work of the Bethlehem field, especially as there is no Y. M. C. A. in the community to help out in the care of so many young men.

Mr. Larned also feelingly expressed his heartfelt appreciation of the fact that had it not been for the more than loyal, the enthusiastic support of the people of St. John's Church since his ministry there, making for the success of his every effort, he might never have received the call given him from the Pro-Cathedral Church, and said that his gratitude for the same was beyond words. Furthermore he said that the same fact would always be to the credit of the church and to his successor he would most heartily endorse the efficiency, generous spirit and loyalty of the people of the church. Mr. Larned also said that he had asked to be released on June first, in order that he might get into touch with the work in the new field before the vacation period, and because at that time there would be encamped at Bethlehem between 200 and 400 young men, who should have the ministrations of the church.

Another announcement of much interest to all the Episcopal churches was to the effect that the bishops had been unable to get to Kingston last week as it had been hoped they would in the interest of the consolidation of the three Episcopal churches in the city. The union services of the past winter had proven the possibility of such action, and the conservation of man power and equipment in such a move, but apparently the time was not yet quite ripe, which Mr. Larned considered a matter for regret.

Mr. Larned who came to St. John's Church in the fall of 1916, graduated from Harvard in 1905. For three years he attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology taking the course in mechanical and civil engineering. Two years were spent by him at the Union Episcopal Seminary at Cambridge, graduating from there in 1911. He was ordained deacon the same year, and priest at the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine, New York city, by Bishop Greer, in 1912. For three years he was in charge of the mission at Globe, Arizona, going there after being curate at St. John's Church, Clifton, Staten Island. In addition to his unusual engineering education and experience, Mr. Larned is a convincing and appealing preacher, whose genuineness and ability get a strong hold on men. He is furthermore a man of executive ability and a man of vision. Through all of his efforts and in his daily life in the community there runs that real sprituality which today the world is demanding as the fundamental factor, and these qualities make Mr. Larned a man peculiarly fitted to the new field to which he has been called. While the entire community will be greatly poorer for his going, for Mr. Larned has been keenly alive to every movement for the furtherance of the best community spirit of whatever form, it has also been decidedly enriched as has St. John's Church by the year and a half that he has been in Kingston, and it is a matter for heartiest congratulations that a man and a position so fitted to each other, at a time in the world's history when such fitness is imperative, have come together as in this instance.

The Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem, is one of the most perfectly equipped church plants in this part of the country, the bishop and the men who support the church realizing the magnitude of the work and necessity of placing at the disposal of the dean every means of expediting his efforts. In the large and completely equipped parish house are suites for the curate, parish worker and the dean's secretary, while the most modern and comfortable rectory is provided for the dean. Leonard Hall, an endowed building houses, free of charge a very large number of young men attending Lehigh University, who in return for their rooms and board, take part in the mission work of the Pro-Cathedral, which has one active mission almost as large as St. John's Church, and is about to build another mission, in another section of the section of the city, funds for the same being already provided.

The large number of men employed at the Bethlehem Steel works is almost daily increasing, so that the services which can be rendered by a man to men, seems almost unlimited. Rector Larned will take with him, when he leaves Kingston the very best wishes of a host of friends both in and out of St. John's Church.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, May 6.—The juniors and sophomores of the local high school gave the senior class a very delightful evening in the auditorium on Friday last. It was one of the events of the season. The young people with music, dancing and refreshments, ice cream and cake, enjoyed it with a social intercourse and an evening together long to be remembered, for school days are all too soon over.

The senior class, also the Glee Club of the high school, purchased a $50 Liberty Bond. This will be added to the fund that is being accumulated to equip the stage in the auditorium. Two or three years ago this class of 1918 gave $30 to the same fund.

On Monday evening a mass meeting will be held in the M. E. Church. The speaker of the evening will be George H. Mann, a prominent lawyer of New York, and a member of the American Defense Society. The subject of his address will be "America's Share in the War." This will be one of a series of meetings to be held in Methodist Churches of the local group. Thursday evening there will be a meeting held in the M. E. Church at Grahamsville and the speaker will be James Moffatt of Sloatsburg. A meeting will be held at Kerhonkson Friday evening and Mr. Moffatt will be the speaker.

At the M. E. Sunday school on Sunday the session was entirely given over to a rousing patriotic service under the direction of the superintendent, H. W. Coons. The room was alive to patriotism in its decorations of the large and small American flags with several large and small British flags and the French flags, as also small flags of Italy. The service opened with singing of "America" with Mrs. J. H. Divine at the piano. Prayer, the Rev. Albert E. Lord. Roll call. Chorus, girls of Mrs. Potter's class, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." Reading, "America Arise and Fight," Miss Edith Wright. Singing, "Star Spangled Banner." Address, Mr. Coons. Chorus, "Tenting Tonight," class of girls.

In accordance with the custom of past years, Ellenville will have a clean-up week beginning Monday, May 6. The annual spring cleaning has become a national custom in every properly conducted household. The outward appearance of a community be it a city or village, is a reliable index of the character of the citizens. All the village premises will be inspected by the health and fire officials on Saturday, May 11.

Perfect Artificial Eyes.

Artificial eyes are much more commonly worn that most people imagine. The average user does not make advertisement of the fact, which may be known only to a few intimate friends, for such eyes, nowadays, a product of the glassblower's highest skill, are of a workmanship so artistic as to be perfectly deceptive. When, as is usually the case, the eye is set upon the "root" of the natural organ it moves exactly like a real one.

PROCEEDINGS IN SUPREME COURT

Decision Reserved in Divorce Case—Ellenville Woman Claims She Was Defrauded—Father Wants Custody of Daughter.

Justice Hasbrouck, sitting at a special term of supreme court Saturday, reserved decision in the action for divorce brought by Mabel Padgett against William T. Padgett. Harry Cole and Ellsworth Howley of Binghamton testified that in the latter part of 1916 the defendant conducted a cigar store and lived in a room in the rear, and that he was compelled to move by the police. Cole and Howley testified that they saw women in there on different occasions, both day and night. Mr. and Mrs. Padgett were married at Binghamton November 27, 1907. She has not been living with her husband for seven years and with her twin daughters, Mary and Marion, 9 years of age, is living at Prattsville.

Father Wants Custody of Child.

In the matter of Charles D. Feeney against Laura Feeney and Anna Farrell, some testimony was taken and the matter then adjourned until the next special term. This is an action brought by Mr. Feeney to get the custody of his four year old daughter. The couple have not lived together since November, 1916, when Mrs. Feeney went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Farrell, at West New Brighton, S. I., taking her daughter with her. Mr. Feeney said that on several occasions when he went to see his daughter he was denied the privilege. Some time ago Justice Hasbrouck granted a writ of habeas corpus, and Mrs. Farrell was ordered to produce the child in court. Mrs. Farrell was there Saturday but did not bring the child. F. H. Innes, attorney for Mrs. Farrell, stated that she had never had the custody of the child and therefore did not have to produce her in court. Newton H. Fessenden appeared for Mr. Feeney and stated that he should have the custody of his daughter at least part of the year. It is probable that the parties will come to an agreement before the next special term of the court. An action for separation brought some time ago by Mrs. Feeney was dismissed by Justice Clark in Richmond county.

Alleged Fraud Case.

Justice Hasbrouck denied the motion made by David G. Goodwin of New York city, attorney for Robert R. Forrester and David A. Russell, officers and directors of the Alpha Sign Company, Inc., for judgment on the pleadings. Clinton H. Blake of New York city and William D. Brinnier, Sr., attorneys for Helen B. Holman of Ellenville, opposed the motion. Helen B. Holman is suing the defendants for $4,300, which, she alleges, through fraud on the part of the defendants, she invested in the Alpha Sign Company, Inc.

The facts as alleged by the plaintiff are briefly as follows: Defendants represented that the sign company although just organized, was a prosperous one with a glowing future, and the investors would get a twenty per cent divident at the end of the first year. No business was transacted by the company, and later two new corporations were formed, one in Delaware, and known as "The Removable Letter Sign Corporation," and the other in New York, and known as "Removable Letter Sign Corporation."

Upon the request of the defendants the plaintiff surrendered her stock in the old old sign company and received in exchange stock in the new corporation organized in Delaware. Plaintiff alleges that the new corporation carried fictitious assets on its books, had not sufficient capital, and was unable to borrow money to finance its business. Defendants make a general denial and moved for judgments on the pleadings. Denied with costs.

First Balloon Ascension.

The first balloon ascension is said to have been made by Pere Berthold Guzman, a Portuguese priest, in 1720—or 60 years before Mongolfier.

Schoonmaker, assisted by Mayor Canfield, W. C. Shafer, John E. Mahar, Frank Voykendall, Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland and Martin Cantine of Saugerties. Teams will be selected to make a house to house canvass and it is expected that at the close of the drive Kingston and Ulster county will have done the usual thing—gone over the top.

... the Surrogate.

Letters of administration were granted today by Surrogate Gill on the estate of Earl LeFever, late of New Paltz, to Mary C. LeFever, the mother.

Better Than a Fish Story.

This narrative comes from Nairobi, in British East Africa. A hunter met a most magnificent lion almost face to face. With a terrible roar the beast sprang at the man but missed his aim by jumping two feet too high. Disappointed, it dashed away into the woods. The next day a party set out to track the beast down. At length they came upon it in an open space in the jungle. The beast was practicing low jumps.

Concentrate!

The weakest living creature, by concentrating on a single object, can accomplish something; whereas the strongest, by dispersing his attention over many things, may fail to accomplish anything.—Carlyle.

ENROLLMENT SHOWS NEW YORK LEADS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 6.—New York state leads all other states in the recent enrollment for the United States shipyard volunteers. The total number enrolled from the state was 31,830. Illinois was second with 23,000; Massachusetts third with 27,119. The men will be called to service in the shipyards as soon as places can be found for them. A number of the largest yards are nearing completion and larger numbers of men will be needed week by week.

The success of the enrollment in this state is regarded by officials here as amazing. Tabulations by the National Counsel of Defense show that one-fourth of the total number of war contracts that have been let so far, are held by New York state firms.

RED CROSS RALLY TUESDAY, MAY 14TH

Tuesday evening, May 14, a Red Cross rally will be held in the high school auditorium, for which permission has been asked, to arouse interest and enthusiasm in the big drive which starts throughout the country on May 20. At the rally a speaker of national prominence will be present as well as a French soldier who is now in this country. As soon as the committees in charge of the drive have been formed the names of the chairman and the various committees will be published in The Freeman.

REPORT OF WORK OF THE BOY SCOUTS

The following report of the work of the Boy Scouts of this city during the Third Liberty Loan just closed, wherin, under heavy handicap, with only stray gleanings to be gathered in, the boys of our city, with some valued assistance from the Girl Scouts and from the Accord Troop, shows plainly whether or no the Scout movement in a community pays. $58,750 worth of bonds were sold by the Scouts, and is there a man or woman in this community who dares to say that this work has not been of infinitely greater benefit to the boys—and girls, though their need was not so great—than for them to have been loafing about after school hours with no such objective in view? Furthermore, they have been of as actual use to their goernment at this time as can any man in camp or overseas be, for the men must be provided with those things which this money will buy.

The report as turned in by Scout Executive Soles is as follows:

Troop 1—Third Loan, 55 bonds, $5,550; Second Loan, 144 bonds, $11,250.

Troop 4—Third Loan, 43 bonds, $3,400; Second Loan, 167 bonds, $17,750.

Troop 5—Third Loan, 211 bonds, $20,850; Second Loan, 254 bonds, $29,750.

Troop 6—Third Loan, 133 bonds, $15,150; Second Loan, 133 bonds, $12,650.

Accord—Third Loan, 51 bonds, $10,550.

Girl Scouts—Third Loan, 19 bonds, 2,950.

Total, Third Loan, 516 bonds, $58,750.

Order of merit for troops: Troop 5; Troop 6; Accord; Troop 1; Troop 4; Girl Scouts.

The following Scouts sold over 10 bonds each:

Troop 1—Joe Forman, 11 bonds, $3,050*; Robert Gumaer, 10 bonds, $500; Harry Schryver, 22 bonds, $1,250*.

Troop 4—John Connelly, 18 bonds, $1,450*.

Troop 5—Vernon Beehler, 10 bonds, $1,500*; Reynolds Carr, 10 bonds, $1,450; Jack DeWitt, 12 bonds, $7,000; David Rightmyer, 11 bonds, $800*; Randall Rose, 50 bonds, $3,200*; Westbrook Stelle, 13 bonds, $2,500; Stanley Trow, 11 bonds, $950*.

Troop 6—Cutler Brown, 11 bonds, $750*; Clifton Eckert, 14 bonds, $1,200*; Reginald Every, 17 bonds, $5,500*; Harold Hicks, 12 bonds, $750; DeVall Howard, 16 bonds, $1,250; Edward Leverett, 11 bonds, $650; Edmond Mahar, 12 bonds, $850; George Matthews, 12 bonds, $950*; Francis Van Houten, 11 bonds, 650*.

The regular meeting of Kingston Chapter, No. 155, O. E. S., was held at the rooms Friday evening and was one of the most delightful in the history of the chapter. The guests of honor were the grand officers who paid their official visit to the chapter. Right Worthy Bertie C. Ford, D. D. G. M., and Right Worthy C. H. Vedder, A. G. L. of the Eleventh Eastern Star District, were the visiting officers. Long before the appointed hour the members of the chapter had gathered at the rooms to welcome the grand officers. During the evening Star degrees were conferred on two candidates. The rooms were artistically decorated with the national colors and dotted here and there with spring flowers, cut flowers and palms. Twelve young ladies carrying American beauty roses formed an arch through which the guests were escorted. Worthy Matron Nellie C. Klothe made an eloquent address, taking as her subject "A Tribute to the Rose," and winding smilax around the huge bouquet of roses she presented them to Sister Ford in a few well chosen words. The gift from the chapter was a handsome cut glass vase to the deputy and to the A. G. lecturer gold cuff buttons. During the evening a fine musical program was rendered by Mrs. Morris, who has a fine contralto voice. Following the program a banquet was served. The entire evening's program was one that will linger long in the memory of those present.

Wrap Tools in Cloth.

It is an admirable idea to wrap good tools, such as drills, wrenches, etc., in oiled cloths before stowing them away in the tool compartment. The oiled cloths prevent the implements from becoming rusty, which is quite likely to happen in the course of a strenuous season's running.

HOUSE PLAN FOR MILITARY SERVICE

Proposed Legislation May Require Universal Training for Young Men In Their Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first years.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 6.—Universal military service legislation as a rider on the $15,000,000,000 army appropriation bill will be proposed when the measure comes up for action in the House next week, it was learned this afternoon.

An amendment drawn by Republican representatives provides that every American boy shall spend a total of twelve months in a military camp, receiving physical and tactical training, before he reaches his majority. Three months of training would be given in the nineteenth, and three in the twentieth year, with six months' training in the twenty-first year.

Under this form of compulsory service, advocates of the plan said today the United States would have 10,000,000 men, trained and ready to be called into active service in any emergency at the end of ten years.

CAN TAKE WAR STEPS "WITHOUT LIMIT"

United States Supreme Court in Sweeping Decision Upholds Right of Congress to Send Soldiers Abroad to Fight.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 6.—In a sweeping decision upholding the right of congress to take steps, "without limit" in prosecuting a war, the supreme court today overruled the appeal that under the selective draft law a man could not be forced to go abroad to fight. The attempt to have General Leonard Wood, cited in contempt of court for sending Robert Cox abroad while his appeal in this case was pending, was automatically lost.

Chief Justice White, in handing down the decision, said the whole question of the power of congress over the army had been foreclosed by the decision in the selective draft case. The power, he pointed out, was granted to congress in the constitution in the power to declare war and to raise armies, and this power knew no limit. It was not based on the militia sections of the constitution, he said but on the contrary the militia section was a mere part of the war power.

The government had requested that certain paragraphs of the brief of the counsel for Cox be stricken from the record, contending that they were scandalous. This view was shared by the court, but Justice White asserted the belief that it would be better to leave them in the record. He said he did not think they would be provocative of similar contentions, but rather the reverse.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 6—Generals gains all through the list marked the opening of the stock market today. Steel Common quickly rose to above 98 against 97½ at the close on Saturday. Union Pacific rose ¾ to 119¾; Marine Preferred ¾ to 88, and Distillers Securities ¾ to 52⅞ with other issues generally following these leaders in the various groups. Specialties were also active and strong with a good deal of interest attached to the trading in American Cotton Oil which rose ¾ to 38¾. Reading was actively traded in, advancing ¾ to 80⅝. Anaconda moved up ⅜ to 64⅞.

The feature of the trading during the forenoon was the vigorous buying of Steel Common, sales of that stock being more than one-third of the total sales. The stock reached 99¾, a new high record for the year. Substantial gains were made in nearly all the active issues. Marine Preferred moved up 1½ to 88¾, and Bethlehem Steel B sold 1¼ higher at 80⅝. Reading moved up one point to 80⅞, and Republic Iron and Steel gained 1⅝ to 84⅝. Union Pacific was 1⅛ higher at 119⅞, and Distillers moved up to 52⅞, a new high record on this movement. Gains ranged from fractions to over one point in many specialties.

Trading in Steel Common continued on a large scale during the afternoon with the price advancing to 99½. Bethlehem Steel B moved up to 81¼, and Crucible rose to 66. Railroads were also in good demand at advancing prices.

The market closed strong today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

Man Before War Exemption Board at Least Proved He Was Loyal to His Lady Love.

He was a plump little man and he was smoking a very large cigar and with his unoccupied hand he caressed a faint blonde mustache at odd moments. He seemed to be thinking of other things than the matter in hand. He explained he was working in a factory that made ammunition and was, therefore, more important at home than abroad. The exemption board seemed to take that view of it and was about to say so, when one member looked up and saw the applicant gazing out the window with a look of awed delight that was wonderful to behold. The board member followed his gaze, but saw nothing more interesting than a fat sparrow swinging on a telephone wire. He looked back. The applicant was fast going into an ecstatic trance.

"What is the name of your immediate superior?" asked the board member softly.

"Alice," said the applicant softly. And five minutes later when, a brick red as to face, he stood in the hall awaiting the elevator and a chance acquaintance dared the inquiry: "Who is Alice?" he grinned. "We are going to be married next week. Wasn't that a h—— of a thing to say in there. Oh, boy."

And, still blushing, but also still smiling, he departed.

The tallest of California's "big trees" is 325 feet in height, but among the great gum trees of Australia many specimens are more than 400 feet in height, and one, which was felled in southeast Australia, measured 471 feet—the tallest tree on record. Gum trees grow very rapidly.—Popular Science Monthly.

Fitzgerald-Kuehn.

Miss Selma Josephine Kuehn of this city and John Michael Fitzgerald of Camp Dix were quietly married Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of the Church of the Holy Spirit by the pastor, the Rev. John J. Bott. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald have the well wishes of a host of friends in this city.

Lucaszkie-Cybolski.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Immaculate Conception Church Sunday afternoon at 3.15 when Miss Lena Cybolski, daughter of Mrs. George Cybolski, and Walter Lucaszkie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucaszkie, were united in marriage by the Rev. F. Liesniewski. The bride wore a handsome gown in white satin and carried a bouquet of white bride roses. Her sister, Martha, was her only attendant; she wore a dress of blue crepe de chine and carried pink carnations. Joseph Lucaszkie, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. The house was decorated with cherry blossoms, and all the guests wished the young couple a long and happy life. Mr. and Mrs. Lucaszkie will make their home at 88 Newkirk avenue.

The Coterie.

The last of this season's meetings of the Coterie was held at the home of Mrs. Patchen on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Watts had the first paper of the day, her topic, admirably handled, being, "The Literature of Colonial and Revolutionary Periods," wherein she quoted from letters of Columbus and other early explorers and settlers. From that period the subject was brought down to the present time, different authors and their styles of writing being noted interestingly. The second paper on "The Modernista Movement," as given by Miss Isabel Thompson, showed careful study and presented the new style of South American literature with all of its detailed descriptive and flowery forms, very attractively.

Mrs. Weyant also gave a paper, delayed in its reading, on "The Mission of the Pan-American Union," in which she gave an admirable account of the work and aims of the union and of its beautiful quarters in the new building in Washington, D. C.

Miss Deudney, chairman of the program committee, then presented an outline of the subject for study next year, "The Great War and Some of its Submerged Backgrounds," and the members present chose their individual paper subjects. The afternoon closed with a delightful social hour.

"Experience" is Here.

The long awaited and much discussed morality play "Experience" comes to the Kingston Opera House tonight and continues for a brief engagement of two additional evenings and a matinee on Wednesday. "Experience" is up to date and deals with up to date conditions, and while it is written in the form of an allegory and follows closely the form of the old-fashioned morality plays of four centuries ago, it is none the less realistic and vivid.

BALFOUR DENIES PEACE OFFER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, May 6.—No peace offer has been recently nor is there any neutral representative here who made tentative and informal suggestions for peace negotiations. Foreign Secretary Balfour announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

Replying further on the subject to questions put by Philip Snowden, Mr. Balfour said he thought the whole thing was a "mare's nest."

Mr. Snowden called attention to advices from The Hague detailing peace proposals and asked Mr. Balfour if he had read them.

The foreign secretary repeated that he thought it all a "mare's nest."

EVILS IN TRAIN OF WAR

English Men of Prominence Look With Disfavor on the Free Mingling of the Sexes.

English physicians and psychologists have noted the great danger to women's morals in donning masculine clothing and giving themselves too much license.

"The woman war worker in male attire and the amateur war nurse are deserving careful attention by the medical profession," writes Dr. James Burnett, M. A., M. D., M. R. C. P., in the Medical Press.

"I see two net results of the war in this connection—a greatly lowered standard of morality and increased vice diseases. War has certainly slackened our moral tone. The free mingling of the sexes has not had altogether a beneficial effect on the morality of the country.

"Skirts are worn shorter than ever before. In fact, some women seem to me to vie with each other as to who can wear the fewest clothes. Cigarette smoking and drinking have become common. It is a usual sight to see women smoking and drinking at tables in public."

Russian Red Cross.

The Russian Red Cross is an enormous organization, more or less bureaucratic in its administration, formerly supported by the royal family, and now receiving aid from the government; not like our Red Cross, supported by contributions of the whole people. Its vast storehouses are stocked with supplies far beyond anything we have in America. They have utilized their factories for the manufacture of cotton goods, and in one storehouse in Petrograd we found 50,000,000 meters of gauze. They had 5,000,000 suits of underwear for their soldiers. They run their hospitals quite as well as the sanitary department of the army. In the winter palace were 500 beds of a Red Cross hospital, its lofty ceilings and big rooms splendidly ventilated and splendidly administered. One could not help but think that this was the best use to which the winter palace ever had been put.—Cartoons Magazine.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR SHAD FISHING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 6.—All shad nets in the Hudson river must hereafter be taken up between sundown on Fridays and sunrise on Mondays, in accordance with an order issued by Conservation Commissioner George D. Pratt, for the purpose of giving the fast diminishing shad more opportunity to run up the Hudson river for spawning.

The order states that "during the shad season, from March 15 to June 15, both dates inclusive, no nets, except fyke nets and minnow nets used for taking bait, shall be set, placed, drawn or allowed to remain in the waters of the Hudson river from below the dam at Troy, between sunset on Friday and sunrise on the following Monday."

In addition to this order granting the shad a "safe conduct" each weekend, the Conservation Commission is regulating the netting privileges during the rest of the week. Hereafter, all persons who wish to catch shad in any part of the Hudson river must provide themselves with a license issued by the commission.

These steps have been taken by the Conservation Commission under the new powers vested in it by a law passed at the last session of the legislature extending the jurisdiction of the commission over the lower waters of the Hudson. Previously the commission's authority ended at VerPlanck's Point, near Peekskill.

Commissioner Pratt has lost no time in coming to the assistance of the shad, which is the most important food fish in the new waters under his control. Statistics in the office of the commission show alarming decrease in the quantity of shad taken during recent years in the Hudson river north of VerPlanck's Point, which is the spawning ground of the fish. In 1913 the catch was 87,115 lbs.; in 1914, 69,072 lbs.; in 1915, 34,269 lbs., and in 1916, 25,206 lbs. Although the official catch for 1917 has not yet been reported, the Conservation Commission was unable to collect sufficient spawn to supply even one hatchery at Linlithgo.

Commissioner Pratt feels that under the methods of promiscuous and uninterrupted netting hitherto practiced in the lower Hudson, there is little chance for the shad to succeed in making its way up the stream to spawn. It is believed that the shad seeks the river in which it was born, and the restocking of the Hudson by natural methods is therefore dependent upon such shad as can manage to make their way successfully up the river.

DR. MATTHEWS'S LECTURE.

Has Been Close to Real Conflict and Knows Her Subject.

Dr. Matthews, who will speak at the Kingston High School on Wednesday night under the auspices of the Woman's Branch of Home Defense, has a thrilling story to tell of her experience at the front. Few women have had the same opportunity as she to be so close to the real conflict and it is a story of compelling interest as she tells it. The lecture is for every one and it is hoped that a large audience will greet Dr. Matthews at the high school on next Weduesday night.

WILL BECOME DEAN OF PRO-CATHEDRAL

At a special meeting of the vestry of St. John's Episcopal Church, this city, held last week, the rector, the Rev. J. I. Blair Larned, presented this open letter to the members of the vestry, in resigning his position as rector of St. John's in order to accept the call to become dean of the Pro-Catherdral Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem, Penn.:

To The Vestry of St. John's Church,
Gentlemen:

Two weeks ago, as you know, I received a call to become dean of the Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem, Penn. It is needless to say that the call came as a complete surprise to me. I have been with you for so short a time and the opportunities for larger usefulness were opening up in so many directions that the thought of entering any new field of work never entered my mind. I have, therefore given this question most deep and prayerful consideration. I have thoroughly investigated the new field and have discussed the question in all its phases with the bishops of New York.

The decision I have reached has resulted largely from two considerations. First, the magnitude of the opportunities for service in Bethlehem, with the work at Lehigh University, the missionary work of that end of the diocese of Bethlehem, and the conducting of one mission church and the erection of another entirely in the hands of the cathedral staff. Secondly, the fact that three years' study of engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology should afford an unusual point of contact with the employes of the Bethlehem Steel Company, which at the present time comprises about thirty-five thousand men. Few parishes in the country are so closely connected with a great manufacturing and engineering industry.

I appreciate more than I can express, the cordial and enthusiastic support you have at all times rendered me. I regret exceedingly the necessary severance of ties and relationships which (even in so short a time) have come to mean much to me, and which this decision must largely bring to an end. Some one has recently said, "The times are coming when the right to live on this earth, to say nothing of the right to fill posts of honor, will be measured by our readiness to render deeds of service to our fellowmen." Judged therefore, by this test, "Willingness to serve," and "opportunities for service," I feel that I must ask you to accept my resignation as rector of St. John's Church, to take effect June first. If you will but render to my successor the same whole-hearted support which you have so graciously extended to me, the future increased usefulness of St. John's, which must always remain dear to me, will be assured.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) J. I. BLAIR LARNED.

At the morning service at St. John's Church, Mr. Larned expressed practically the same thoughts and feelings and future plans to the congregation, enlarging upon the mission work of the Bethlehem field, especially as there is no Y. M. C. A. in the community to help out in the care of so many young men.

Mr. Larned also feelingly expressed his heartfelt appreciation of the fact that had it not been for the more than loyal, the enthusiastic support of the people of St. John's Church since his ministry there, making for the success of his every effort, he might never have received the call given him from the Pro-Cathedral Church, and said that his gratitude for the same was beyond words. Furthermore he said that the same fact would always be to the credit of the church and to his successor he would most heartily endorse the efficiency, generous spirit and loyalty of the people of the church. Mr. Larned also said that he had asked to be released on June first, in order that he might get into touch with the work in the new field before the vacation period, and because at that time there would be encamped at Bethlehem between 200 and 400 young men, who should have the ministrations of the church.

Another announcement of much interest to all the Episcopal churches was to the effect that the bishops had been unable to get to Kingston last week as it had been hoped they would in the interest of the consolidation of the three Episcopal churches in the city. The union services of the past winter had proven the possibility of such action, and the conservation of man power and equipment in such a move, but apparently the time was not yet quite ripe, which Mr. Larned considered a matter for regret.

Mr. Larned who came to St. John's Church in the fall of 1916, graduated from Harvard in 1905. For three years he attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology taking the course in mechanical and civil engineering. Two years were spent by him at the Union Episcopal Seminary at Cambridge, graduating from there in 1911. He was ordained deacon the same year, and priest at the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine, New York city, by Bishop Greer, in 1912. For three years he was in charge of the mission at Globe, Arizona, going there after being curate at St. John's Church, Clifton, Staten Island. In addition to his unusual engineering education and experience, Mr. Larned is a convincing and appealing preacher, whose genuineness and ability get a strong hold on men. He is furthermore a man of executive ability and a man of vision. Through all of his efforts and in his daily life in the community there runs that real spirituality which today the world is demanding as the fundamental factor, and these qualities make Mr. Larned a man peculiarly fitted to the new field to which he has been called. While the entire community will be greatly poorer for his going, for Mr. Larned has been keenly alive to every movement for the furtherance of the best community spirit of whatever form, it has also been decidedly enriched as has St. John's Church by the year and a half that he has been in Kingston, and it is a matter for heartiest congratulations that a man and a position so fitted to each other, at a time in the world's history when such fitness is imperative, have come together as in this instance.

The Pro-Cathedral Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem, is one of the most perfectly equipped church plants in this part of the country, the bishop and the men who support the church realizing the magnitude of the work and necessity of placing at the disposal of the dean every means of expediting his efforts. In the large and completely equipped parish house are suites for the curate, parish worker and the dean's secretary, while the most modern and comfortable rectory is provided for the dean. Leonard Hall, an endowed building houses, free of charge a very large number of young men attending Lehigh University, who in return for their rooms and board, take part in the mission work of the Pro-Cathedral, which has one active mission almost as large as St. John's Church, and is about to build another mission, in another section of the section of the city, funds for the same being already provided.

The large number of men employed at the Bethlehem Steel works is almost daily increasing, so that the services which can be rendered by a man to men, seems almost unlimited. Rector Larned will take with him, when he leaves Kingston the very best wishes of a host of friends both in and out of St. John's Church.
